OUR 63RD YEAR | 15¢ PER COPY | SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI, | FRIDAY, MARCH 15, 1974 | 24 PAGES | NUMBER 13

House okays 3 big money bills

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Three major money bills to fund higher education, prisons, welfare, and the cost of the General Assembly received first-round approval in the Missouri House Thursday.

The total cost of the three bills is about $695 million for fiscal 1974-75.

The bill for higher education was approved quickly with no substantial funding added or taken away from any university.

The sum for the University of Missouri remains about $115 million, or $5 million less than the school requested. However, the total is $10 million more than MU's current operating budget.

Final passage on the money bills may come next week.

The total cost of higher education was about $268 million, and the welfare and corrections bill totalled about $420 million. However, the liveliest debate of the day concerned a $7.3 million bill to pay for the legislature and its staff. House Republicans attacked the language of the bill, saying it contains no detailed line item budgeting that is found in all other agency bills.

GOP Floor Leader Robert Snyder said "All the other budgets we want itemized, but we don't want to tell the public how we spend our funds." Snyder said a lack of justiciation for legislative expenses will lead the public to feeling "there's always something unethical" going on in Jefferson City.

Rep. Joe Frappier, R-Florissant, noted a 700 per cent increase in funds for legislative travel (in addition to mileage) and said "We've got enough money in there to send every one of us to Majorca for two weeks."

The cost of the legislature this year was about $3.5 million, but the bill approved Thursday would raise that figure to $6.5 million. The cost of both houses for the 1974-75 year is more than double that of the current fiscal year.

The Missouri House also gave first-round approval to an appropriations bill funding the Department of Social Services, which includes welfare functions of state government, and the Division of Corrections.

The measure provides for spending about $202 million in state funds and $218 million in federal funds.

Deleted from the bill was $100,000 for a move of 170 welfare employes to St. Louis.

The amendment specifies that no state funds can be used for rental of a building where the department had planned to move the employes.

The move was announced Wednesday by Robert L. James, an assistant to the governor.

Earlier the House gave final approval to a measure delaying the deadline for compliance of third and fourth class counties with ambulance regulation legislation passed during the last session.

The extension moves the compliance date from July 1, 1974 to July 1, 1975. It also includes Jefferson County among those granted an extension.

Contracts signed

Judge to rule March 25 on motion for retrial

BENTON — A motion for a new trial for James "Peterboy" Harrington, 25, of Sikeston was taken under advisement until March 25 by Judge Marshall Craig Thursday in Circuit Court. Harrington was found guilty on Jan. 31 by a Circuit Court jury of second- degree murder in the 1971 slaying of Kenneth Ellison in Sikeston.

To support a written motion for a new trial, the defense charged: The court erred in allowing Charles Kemp, a Chicago FBI agent, to testify about statements Harrington made to him the day he was captured. The defense attorneys said the prosecuting attorney failed to furnish them with copies of the statement Harrington made to Kemp and his remarks prior to the trial in violation of court orders.

The court erred in overruling a motion for a continuance and the motion should have been granted because the testimony presented by the FBI agent on the morning of the trial came as a surprise to the defense attorneys, who had been led to believe that no incriminating statements had been made by Harrington.

The court erred in allowing the prosecutor to impeach testimony by defense witness Marvin Baker by presenting statements he had made earlier that had been withheld from the defense, contrary to an order of the court.

The court erred in allowing a privately retained attorney to participate as prosecutor and thus deprived Harrington of a fair trial.

Perryville man killed, 5 hurt

A Perryville man was killed and five other persons were injured in three area traffic accidents Thursday and early today, according to the highway patrol. The fatality brings the number of persons killed this year to 12, compared with 19 at this same time last year.

Brad William Eugas, 17, of Perryville died at 7:35 a.m. today on Route J, four miles east of Yount when he lost control of his car on a curve, ran off the highway, came back across the road and struck a westbound pickup truck driven by Herman Francis Zahner, 53, of Perryville.

The body was taken to Young and Sons Funeral Home in Perryville.

Zahner and a passenger in his car, Thomas Michael Crews, 16, of Fredericktown, received serious injuries and were taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

Two passengers received serious injuries at 8 p.m. Thursday on Route D at the east city limits of Lilbourn when a car driven west by Anderson Sylvester, 33, of Malden went out of control and skidded into an eastbound car driven by Lillie Mae Cole, 67, of Lilbourn.

Sulvester suffered minor injuries and two of his passengers, Willie Hall, 59, of Clarkton and Margaret Thomas, 46, of Lilbourn received serious injuries. Mrs. Cole has minor injuries. All were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Katie Hawkins, 22, of East Prairie, was injured at 2:40 a.m. today on Route 80, four miles east of Matthews.

The accident occurred when Miss Hawkins' car hit a small rise in the road and ran off the wet pavement and into a ditch.

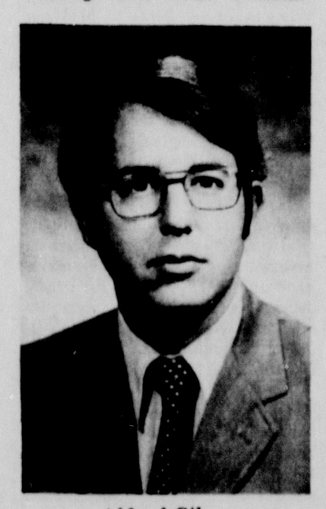
She was taken to a doctors office in East Prairie for treatment.

Theft suspect jailed

CHARLESTON — Lee Childress, 51, of Diehlstadt is being held in Mississippi county jail in connection with the theft of a pickup truck, according to Deputy Sheriff Robert Smith.

The truck, owned by H. L. "Gus" Heckman of Charleston, was reported stolen from West Commercial Street about 4:30 p.m. Thursday. It was recovered about one hour later in the yard of the John Harris home near Snow's Corner near Highway 60.

Smith said Childress who appeared intoxicated, was asleep in the truck when it was found. Wyatt Town Marshall John Pearson received a call from an unidentified person that the truck was in the yard and the sheriff's department was alerted.



Alfred Sikes

Sikes will head expanded department

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Alfred Sikes, former campaign manager for Gov. Christopher S. Bond and head of the state Department of Community Affairs, today became the first department director to be named under government reorganization taking effect July 1.

Sikes, 34, will become director of the new and expanded Department of Consumer Affairs, regulation and licensing. Bond will name 13 other department directors to comply with reorganization.

"Al Sikes has served the state well as head of the Department of Community Affairs," Bond said. "His experience in the planning and development areas will contribute to handling similar tasks in the consumer affairs, regulation and licensing department.

"In addition, Al Sikes' experience in the attorney general's office as an assistant attorney general serving several regulatory agencies...have given him a solid foundation to deal with regulatory questions."

Sikes served as campaign manager for Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth in the 1970 senatorial race and for Bond in the 1972 governor's campaign.

Sikes received his bachelor's degree in 1961 from Westminster College in Fulton and his law degree in 1964 from the University of Missouri-Columbia.

He was the 1969-70 president of the Missouri Jaycees; vice president of the National Jaycees in 1970-71; Junior Chamber international legal counsel in 1971-72; and now is a member of the Jaycee International long-range planning committee.

From 1964-68 he was in private practice with the law firm of Allen, Wooley, and Fisher of Springfield. He served as assistant attorney general under Danforth from 1969-71.

County court to help buy new ambulance

BENTON — The Scott County Court announced Thursday that it is purchasing a new ambulance for north Scott County and also will help finance a two-way radio system for the county hospitals and ambulances.

The announcement came after J. A. Chronister of Chaffee, administrator of the Chaffee Housing Authority; Lynn Lancaster of Sikeston, assistant director of the Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council; and Mrs. Ellie Knight of Chaffee Scott County director of the retired senior citizens program; appeared before the court to discuss ambulance services.

Presiding Judge Les Lankford said he does not know who is really responsible for ambulance services. "In the cities they are responsible for their own, but in rural areas the court would probably be responsible," he remarked.

The Court will only be paying $4,000 on the ambulance, which cost approximately $16,000. The other $12,000 will be provided by federal money. The court will also pay only $1,000 of the total cost of the two-way radio communication system.

Judge Lankford said the new ambulance would serve Oran, Chaffee, Scott City, Kelso, Illmo, Commerce and Morley. "The exact location of where the ambulance will be placed has not been decided," he said.

The Court also announced that it will accept bids on the remodeling of the courtroom.

Bids will also be accepted on repainting the courtroom, new carpeting, drapes, jury box, tables for attorneys, witness box and the juvenile courtroom.

Lilbourn to expand and improve water system

LILBOURN-- Work on a $219,040 expansion and improvement project to the city's water system facilities is scheduled to begin next week by L and T Construction Inc. of Grand Rivers, Ky.

Contracts were signed Thursday by Mayor Bill Tope which completed a four- year effort in planning and securing financing for the project by the city.

Improvements to be made include tripling the water treatment facilities, erection of a second high storage at the northwest corner of Delmo Housing project in the south edge of town, installation of water lines in some sections of the city where water is not now available and replacing some small water mains with larger mains.

Upon completion of the project the city will be able to increase the water supply to Public Water Supply District No. 1 which will supply water to the vocational technical school of New Madrid County R- 1 Enlarged School District on Highway 61 near Howardville.

The project is financed by a $125,040 grant from the U. S. Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration and funds from a $94,000 revenue bond issue approved in 1972 for repayment of a Farmers Home Administration Loan.

Others present for the signing of the contracts and a pre- construction conference at the city hall were City Clerk Harold Ponder, Ray Lucas, president of L and T Construction Inc.; George W. Neuhausel, vice president and Phyllis Binkley office manager of L and T; Dennis Hurley, New Madrid County supervisor of Farmers Home Administration; Ernie Broughton Jr. of Columbia, FHA engineer; Charles W. Lee of Denver, Colo, FDA engineer; Joe Williamson of Williamson and Associates of St. Louis, consulting engineer; city attorney Harold Jones, former Mayor Jim Dambach, and city water superintendent Johnny Barnes.

THE TWO-PARTY SYSTEM

Next to President Nixon and Energy Chief William Simon, the toughest job in America surely must belong to David K. Wilson.

David K. Wilson? He's chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee. In the face of Watergate and the massive citizen distrust of public officials that it has helped foster, Wilson is responsible for filling depleted GOP coffers.

The portents for his success, to say the least, are not good. According to a recent Louis Harris poll the Republican Party, already far smaller than the Democratic Party, declined by another seven per cent during the past five years. And, in what was considered by many to be a bellwether election, the GOP, in February lost control of Vice President Jerry Ford's old congresslaional seat in Michigan for the first time since 1910.

Too many Americans, we fear, are willing to let the entire Republican Party stew in the juices of Watergate, irrespective of the fact that it was only a handful of White House zealots whose actions brought about this national disgrace.

Does the country as a whole have a stake in the preservation of a strong two- party system of government? We believe that it does.

One only has to look at the political troubles currently facing Britain and Israel to realize the enormous difficulty of governing a modern nation when many political parties vie effectively for control.

The strong two-party system has been essential to the stability of America's government. It has succeeded in offering voters a viable alternative to the policies of incumbent administration and ruling majorities of Congress. At the same time, during national emergencies, the system has made it possible for a President to govern effectively, while reducing the risk that a demagogue would arise and seize political control.

Regardless of what one thinks about either of the nation's two major political parties, all of us have a stake in assuring that both of them remain alive and healthy.

WELL, NOTHING IS FOREVER

Couples heading for the altar these days might well ponder the admonition of Satchel Paige: "Never look behind you; something might be gaining on you." Or words to that effect.

There were more marriages last year than the year before, but also more divorces, and the divorce rate is steadily gaining on the marriage rate.

Figures from the National Center for Health Statistics show that for the first nine months of 1973, the ratio of divorces to marriages was 1 to 2.56 while the previous year, it was one divorce to each 2.74 marriages.

The bonds of matrimony are now tied with a slipknot. This year, an estimated 3.8 million Americans will marry, 2.3 million will file for divorce and another four million will separate.

It's reached the point where there is even a new magazine out called "Marriage & Divorce," which would seem to have something for everyone. The magazine costs $1.25. For another dime, you can get a dozen theories as to the causes of this social phenomenon.

According to a West German pyshiatrist, weekends are the biggest threat to marriage. "Married couples get bored with each other on weekends," says Dr. Helmut Sopp, as quoted in the National Enquirer. "During the week, couples are separated. On weekends they realize how little they have in common."

Sopp's suggestions to couples for a more harmonious weekend start out with staying in bed late and having a big breakfast together. The men shouldn't shave and the women should forget about housework as they should try to find out if they have any mutual interests and get involved in doing something together.

The way things are going, anything worth's a try.

"POLITICAL" KIDNAPPING

It is common practice nowadays for kidnappers to brand their crimes as "political." One of the more sordid ones is the abduction of Patricia Hearst, daughter of the distinguished West Coast publisher, William A. Hearst. At the heart of the matter is extortion and that is a crime. It matters little that the kidnappers have demanded nothing-- so far-- for themselves. Miss Hearst's abductors are hardened, vicious criminals who, it is hoped here, will be brought swiftly to sure justice. It is only human and right that the police and FBI agents tread slowly until the victim is freed.

Abduction and extortion are among the more heinous of criminal acts. The enactment of a federal statute against kidnapping in the wake of the famous Lindberg case in the 1930s had a braking effect on abductions. The kidnapper did not go out of business altogether, however.

A revival of tough capital punishment laws would do more to break the back of the kidnapping racket than any other step. The FBI and the police have the machinery and the know- how to solve kidnap cases, but they do not punish. The severity of punishment meted out by the courts alone can be the great deterrent. Hopefully, Miss Hearst will be found alive and well. That will be the signal for police action. The signal for capital punishment has been with us for quite some time.

Radicals of the far left are prone these days to call the arrest and imprisonment of criminals a political act of the state. This is for propaganda purposes but it is a technique that will fool no thinking person. The state has a legal mandate to protect society against the criminal element, no matter how that element describes its acts. HLH

NICE, BUT NOT NECESSARY

With gasoline scarcities, less gallonage tax, and therefore dwindling revenues for the Missouri State Highway Department, many people take a dim view of a measure introduced at Jefferson City by the State Representative from Elsberry.

It would require the department to paint a yellow center stripe on 10,841 miles of blacktopped roads now unmarked.

Everyone admits it would be nice, and an added safety factor, but they also admit it would be an extremely costly extra expense, when that money is needed and will be needed for more vital roads and road improvements.

A good many people believe that anyone that is able to drive should be able to stay on their own side of the road without stripes, and that if they can't, they shouldn't be driving anyway.

Over the last few decades, special interest groups have focused on Washington to turn the legislative process into a kind of "feed trough" for the greedy. Each year, management and efficiency experts express astonishment and indignation over the proliferation of wasteful federal research, experimental and grant-in-aid programs, but nothing ever happens to stem the tide. Not with Congress able to create program after program on behalf of lobby after lobby.

Finally, after long last, there is faint cause for hope. Both the House and Senate are considering legislation that would reform the congressional programming and budgeting mechanism to terminate this outrage on the taxpayers. The bill in question is S 40, principally sponsored by Sen. William E. Brock (R.-Tenn.) and Rep. Charles Bennett (D.-Fla.).

As good government proposals go, the Brock-Bennett bill is a rare jewel. Every legislative paragraph reflects basic common sense. Let us single out five major intentions.

First the bill would oblige Congress to set up a joint committee to hammer out an annual legislative budget before passing any appropriations bills. Subsequent appropriations exceeding that budget would have to contain an explanation and justification.

Second, the proposal provides that spending bills reported out of congressional committees must contain a statement of five- year projected costs and a list of existing or proposed programs with similar objectives.

Next, Title III specifies that federal expenditure authorizations must expire no more than three years after date of enactment, and no extension can be made without a comprehensive review and analysis of the program by the appropriate congressional committee.

Part Four of the Brock-Bennett bill is long overdue: It provides that Congress cannot consider new major expenditure programs unless these schemes have been pilot-tested according to strict guidelines.

Part Five provides that all appropriations (with few minor exceptions) must be made on an annual basis.

So far, the provisions of S 40 have been approved by the Senate Government Operations Committee, and floor debate is expected soon. Consideration by the House of Representatives is less advanced. Pressure for passage is building, but the future of S 40 remains cloudy.

Few pieces of legislation genuinely qualify for the title "revolutionary" but this one does. Its five principal provisions would strike a real blow at the alliance between Washington's special - interest groups and the legislative process.

Powerful lobby groups would lose their present ability to steamroller program after program into law by plying committee chairmen and key legislators with special gifts, fat speechmaking honoraria and fatter campaign contributions. People who think Washington collusions with vested interests is a monopoly of the Republican White House haven't spent enough time researching the Democrats who run the 200- odd committees and subcommittees of the House and Senate.

If government is to be made responsive to the people, reform on Capitol Hill too, must be achieved -- and passage of S 40 would be solid evidence of congressional sincerity.

BIKE LIGHT CIRCLES WILL ALERT MOTORISTS

The after- dusk bike rider can now alert approaching vehicles with a new bicycle tire that "lights up" at night.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio is producing reflective sidewall tires which can be seen clearly up to 500 yards away. They are expected to make cycling safer for the nation's 85 million bike riders.

"Those two big bright circles tell the driver immediately it's a bicycle," said Herman F. McDaniel general manager. "There is absolutely no doubt when the headlight beams hit the sidewall tire."

IT REALLY WORKS!

Our competitive business system has a major virtue for which it is seldom given credit. By its nature, it has no choice but to comply to the best of its ability with consumer demands and wishes. The company meeting these demands and wishes most successfully, is as a rule, assured a bright future. It is the way the marketplace works.

The wave of criticism that corporations have received for allegedly paying too little attention to the needs of consumers in recent years is getting results far beyond those that could be attained by simply writing laws. A 445- page report on some of the most significant steps taken by various firms to meet consumer complaints is revealing. In the field of product safety, attention has been given to food containers by a number of companies. One has developed a vacuum button that safeguards the seal on baby-food jars. Another has introduced a can lid that partially eliminates the hazard of raw-edged lids on cans. It is working to eliminate the hazard completely. On environmental protection, the report tells how a large metal concern has 500 collection points around the U. S. that accept aluminum scrap for recycling. The company pays 10 cents a pound for cans or other clean household scrap items. A paper company grows seeds and distributes them to independent tree farmers. A soap firm commits 2 cents from the sale of each of its 10 leading detergents sold in the State of Wisconsin to the University of Wisconsin extension program for study of water - pollution controls.

The list of things industry is doing in response to consumer criticism covers a multitude of activities from mark information systems to legal aid for the needy. Call it public relations or what you will, businesses and industry have no choice but to try to please the consumer. That is how they stay alive, and they know it. If consumers are smart, they will realize that this is a virtue of American enterprise and our economic system that cannot be taken lightly. It is the secret of our abundance and our well-being.

A NATIONAL INSTITUTION

Whenever a retail establishment discontinues the giving of trading stamps and turns to some other form of promotion in an effort to attact business, some news writers have fallen into the odd habit of referring to trading stamps as going out of style or they stir up nostalgic furor over the end of an "era". Frequently, they have to eat their words within a short time as other merchants start giving stamps.

A feature in the New York Financial World rhetorically asks the question: "Are trading stamps going out of style?" and answers its own query with a penetrating look at the trading stamp business. It found that, "Trading stamps have a basis appeal that has always been irresistible for most people ..." It backed up this conclusion with impressive statistics. Currently some 50 million American households out of an estimated 64 million save trading stamps. Currently some 50 million American households out of an estimated 64 million save trading stamps. More than 55 million women (78 per cent of the nation's 71 million) personally save stamps or redeem them. More than 46 million men (73 per cent of the nation's 63.5 million) either save stamps or contribute them to someone else in the household who does.

Financial World concludes: "As a result of deeply rooted psychological factors, trading stamps continue to flourish as incentives for both the customers and the sales people." They are a basic element of the structure of promotion and advertising that is literally the foundation of our mass production, mass distribution economy. When any form of promotion is acceptable to 50 million out of 64 million American households, it can only be defined as a national institution that is unlikely to go "out of style" anytime soon.

STRAIGHT LOOK AT ENERGY

At the conclusion of a four- day conference in Lake Arrowhead, California, where 80 representatives from universities, industry and government met for the purpose of developing recommendations on how to keep the U. S. from becoming a have- not nation in material resources, certain findings were released which are highly significant.

Speakers at the conference "... concurred that the crunch in meeting U. S. power and energy needs will come in the next 30 years, but after the year 2000 the outlook will brighten with the full harnessing of solar and thermonuclear fusion power... In another matter, a UCLA (University of California, at Los Angeles) team released results of its study comparing the risk factors in routine operation of oil- fired and nuclear power plants in an urban setting ... nuclear plants averaged one tenth the risk of oil- fired plants."

If ever there were a testimonial to the fact that the only certain answer to today's energy problem lies in a coherent national energy policy, in continued research in the field of new energy sources and in the steady advancement of nuclear power plants, this is it. One of the first moves of a coherent national energy policy should be the fostering of nationwide recognition of the honored roles science and technology must be permitted to play in meeting tomorrow's energy needs.

NO STATE TAX RETURNS PROCESSED YET

JEFFERSCON CITY — A continuing delay in efforts to reprogram state Revenue Department computers to handle new income tax forms has resulted in no 1973 tax returns being processed this year.

The normal processing period has been delayed a week so far and the delay will continue until the computer reprogramming is finished, according to A. Gerald Reiss, associate director of taxes for the Revenue Department.

The delay will continue as long as another three weeks, meaning the first refunds will not be available until about March 7, said Richard B. Clement, associate director for departmental services.

Revenue Department officials had expected to complete the reprogramming job by Jan. 1.

Tax returns normally are not processed through the computer until Feb. 1, he explained.

Approximately 65,000 personal and corporate returns — roughly 3 per cent of the annual total — had been received through Feb. 8, Reiss said. No refunds or other computer - related work have begun.

"This is the product of an out of-date computer here," he complained.

"It's difficult to change, but we'll make up for some of the time lost."

Other processing work is being done until the computer foulup is straightened out, he said.

The computer is used to check the contents of each return for accuracy.

"Everything is ready to be processed through the computer as soon as it turns on," Reiss explained.

The average period of processing for returns mailed early in the year is about five weeks, while those mailed in later take from six to eight weeks to handle, he said.

The delay means those persons waiting refunds will have to wait longer. And those who paid taxes don't have to worry — their checks have already been cashed by the Revenue Department.

"The change is not quite done yet and we just have to wait until it is," Reiss said.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Nixon Raids Justice For More Legal Aid

WASHINGTON-- The White House is raiding the Justice Department for more lawyers to bail President Nixon out of his Watergate troubles.

Although platoons of attorneys are already working on the President's problems with taxes, impeachment, the Senate Watergate committee and the Special Prosecutor, our sources say the White House has asked for "at least a dozen" lawyers from Justice.

These lawyers, of course, are being pulled off important cases at Justice to assist the President at the expense of the taxpayers. Some top Justice officials are giving the White House names of prospects, but there is also an undercurrent of resistance to the presidential dragooning.

For example, Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen, whose criminal division handled the early Watergate investigation, has been privately hinting to aides that they would be wise to turn down the White House.

From bitter experience, Petersen knows that getting too close to President Nixon can mean political burns. At Nixon's request, he postponed acting on crucial Watergate information, and took a public roasting for it.

Petersen is also worried, say insiders, about possible conflicts of interest. Justice lawyers themselves have confided to us that they are leery of taking the jobs at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue not just out of personal distaste, but because of ethical conflicts. One young antitrust lawyer sent for a job interview with Nixon attorney James St. Clair had worked on the milk fund case while at Justice.

Other lawyers fear they will be doing "clerk and jerk" jobs at the White House, reviewing other lawyers' work and "jerking" files and books from law libraries.

The White House's difficulty in wooing young Justice lawyers was obliquely conceded by St. Clair in a telephone interview with my associate Bob Owens.

St. Clair said he is "in the process" of hiring two or three attorneys from Justice. But the talent search has been going on for weeks, ample time to snare more than two or three attorneys if career lawyers were volunteering.

When Owens asked St. Clair who was going to pay the Justice attorneys, the shrewd Bostonian dodged. "I work at a disadvantage because I don't understand the bureaucracy," he said. The payroll, he added, was being left to "smarter people."

At Justice, a spokesman said when the loaned lawyers leave the department, they will also go off the department payroll. This would put them into the White House budget.

PLUMBERS' FRIEND: A Senate committee has charged that Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger has set up his own "plumbers unit" in flagrant violation of congressional orders. HEW insists it's all a $600,000 misunderstanding.

The facts are disclosed in private correspondence between Senate HEW Appropriations subcommittee chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., and Weinberger's undersecretary, Frank Carlucci.

HEW, the documents show, has long wanted its own gumshoes to probe internal fraud, contract cheats, falsified payrolls and conflicts of interest in the vast jerry- built bureaucracy. But HEW employes have feared this would mean a Big Brother operation.

Last August, as the Office of Economic Opportunity fell to pieces under the Administration ax, HEW moved to grab the best of the OEO investigators.

One of those they passed over, despite his eagerness for the top HEW security post, was John "Fat Jack" Buckley who, Watergate sleuths revealed, had planted a Nixon spy in Sen. Edmund Muskie's presidential campaign. Buckley was on the federal payroll at the time.

Though Buckley's zeal went unrewarded, some 22 persons were hired, mostly from OEO. Plans were made to take on eight others. None of the workers had the approval of Magnuson, who controls HEW's purse strings.

In October, the Magnuson subcommittee specifically deleted funds for all the added investigators, saying HEW's original 17- man security staff was all that was needed. Crimes at HEW could be handled by the FBI and other federal cops, as in the past, the committee reasoned.

But Carlucci went ahead with the plans anyway and, according to a confidential report he sent to Magnuson on February 7, conceded he had begun to "reprogram 30 positions (for) an Internal Investigation staff" at a cost of $600,000.

When Magnuson got word of it, he fancied White House-style snoopers under every HEW employe's bed. The unauthorized gumshoes, he told Carlucci on February 26, constitute "a so- called 'plumbers' unit at HEW....

"We are absolutely at a loss to understand how (HEW) could proceed," snorted Magnuson. "This action to subvert the intent of Congress cannot go unchallenged."

Magnuson ordered HEW to get rid of the new squad except for eight sleuths which he said HEW could keep "to show...we are not unreasonable."

At HEW, Nathan Dick, the veteran HEW security man who heads the investigators, told us emphatically his division "is in no way a plumbers unit." His mandate, he said, is not to snoop on HEW employes, but to weed out malefactors among HEW workers and contractors.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Making of a President?

Jerry Ford- Henry Kissinger Would Make a Good Team, Says Meany

WASHINGTON-- That All-American college star isn't streaking past the powerful American labor movement. It has him in full political view. It likes what it sees. And it would like to see him President of the U. S. playing musical chairs with Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President.

Rarely has any conservative been so gently treated by labor leaders skilled at going for the jugular as is the Vice President. When Ford criticizes them, they turn the other cheek. He is called "conservative but honest...square but solid...constructive.. a man we can live with."

He isn't even denounced as an enemy of the people after associating beyond Meany's pale with Labor Secretary Peter Brennan.

Jerry Ford wasn't even denounced after his famous Atlantic City speech some weeks ago when he excoriated labor as extremists attempting to veto the national election. Labor's national headquarters simply asked for a copy of the speech, had to wait until Ford's staff got one from the White House where it was written by communications director Ken Clawson-- and then they attributed it to a lateral pass from former presidential counselor Chuck Colson to Clawson.

It's a rare moment, for example, in contemporary political literature that AFL-CIO chief George Meany is gentle with anyone but gin players and golfers who lose to him. Yet recently he said, "I think the Michigan (congressional) election makes Jerry Ford look more and more important all the time. And frankly, I think a lot of our troubles could be approached in a much more constructive way with Jerry Ford as President of the U. S. than with Richard Nixon. At least Jerry Ford would have credibility."

"He could gather people around him that could run this country and I think Henry Kissinger would be just as good a Secretary of State as they say he is and I think he certainly has talents that he has displayed...I think he would be just as good a Secretary of State under Jerry Ford as President as he is under Richard Nixon."

Later, Meany asserted: "He is very conservative and personally a very nice gentleman. I like him as an individual but it is quite obvious that the labor and liberal forces. .opposed Jerry Ford every time he ran."

And still later Meany averred the campaign in the Grand Rapids congressional district wasn't a referendum on Jerry Ford but on Richard Nixon.

Meany- watchers know that what Meany says, Meany means. And he doesn't say it gently frequently. And none of his words lose significance because they're said at a seemingly inconsequential moment.

Few now recall that it was in August 1970- fully two years before the Democratic nominating convention- that Meany accused the party of being in shambles and in the hands of radicals. And then warned that it couldn't take the support of labor for granted.

To insiders, Meany's description of Jerry Ford these days indicates that labor's war with the White House would end should Ford become President

Says one of his top aides referring to the Vice President's congressional years: "Ford's labor record in our book is 109 wrong and 7 right. But what we would find in the White House is an honest man, not an ideological friend."

Jerry Ford is aware of his reputation inside labor. He has worked closely with the Seafarers chief Paul Hall He has spoken at AFL- CIO Maritime Trades Dept. luncheons and sailors conventions. He has been on the House Public Works Committee. During all this time, however, he has reflected his constituency-- a very conservative one.

Now he's gone public. He can't even ski without a gliding flotilla of Secret Service agents and newsmen. His constituency is national. It has a center. He's gyrating towards it. He's no longer taking advice or speeches or tactical homilies from old- line White House staffers.

He has, for example, hired a new speechwriter-- right out of the most intellectual of left-wing Republicanism. The new ghost is the 50- year- old Virginia- born Milton Friedman. He's been with Sen. Jack Javits. He's written for the Nation which is left of center. He's a specialist on racial and social issues. He has the traditional militant intellectual positions on Vietnam and Dick Nixon.

Obviously Jerry Ford is moving towards the center. Obviously Jerry Ford plans to do more than tell audiences it's nice being with you. Obviously Jerry Ford doesn't plan to hack away at Meany in the old John Connally and Chuck Colson tradition.

All these are mighty big straws in a strong political wind. All this gives both Jerry Ford and the bulk of American labor many options and weapons.

Obviously these are chapter heads, not footnotes, in the making of a President, 1976.

Sentence stayed for Bertrand man

CHARLESTON — David Pounds of Bertrand received a 10- day jail sentence Thursday following his appearance before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr. on a disturbing the peace charge. Pounds was given credit for time served in jail since his arrest March 7 and Judge Brown later stayed the balance of his sentence and ordered Pounds released from custody.

Attorneys were appointed to represent Phaveron Wilkins and Ray Jackson of Charleston on charges of tampering with a motor vehicle by removing an AM-FM radio stereo unit on March 9 from an automobile owned by Walter Raymond Smoot of Charleston. Bonds for the two men were set at $1,000 each and the cases were continued to March 21.

April 18 was set as the trial date for Trent Douglas Reynolds of Wyatt on charges of supplying alcoholic beverage to a minor and possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana. Reynolds is free on $500 bonds, posted on each count.

April 18 was also scheduled as trial date for Kenneth Wayne Farrell of Charleston on charges of supplying liquor to a minor and possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana. He is free on his own recognizance.

Randy Haney of Charleston entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of supplying intoxicating liquor (beer) to a minor and his case was continued to April 11.

A felony charge of issuing a fraudulent check against Kathey Organ of East Prairie was continued to March 21 to allow her time to employ an attorney. Mrs. Organ, who is free on $500 bond, is accused of writing a $40 check on Dec. 24, 1973 to the P. N. Hirsch store.

Misdemeanor charges and fines included: Lanny Marshall Lee of Charleston, driving while intoxicated, $116; Jerry C. Beasley of Bertrand, expired truck license, $21; Robert King of Charleston, operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license, $26; Hugh Ernest Ray of East Prairie, careless and imprudent driving by failure to yield right of way, $31; John Lee Groves Jr. of Wyatt, failure to observe traffic control signs and expired truck license, $26; and James Edward Ashley of Parma, failure to observe traffic control signs, $21;

A non- support charge against Ernest Ray Walker of Charleston was continued to March 28. Also continued to March 28 was a common assault charge against Irene Bailey of Charleston and a charge of leaving the scene of an accident against James Raymond Wheatley.

Charges of driving with expired license plates and driving with expired trailer plates against Jimmy Dale Heath of East Prairie were continued to March 21 and a non- support charge against Larry Houston was continued to April 4.

Appearing before Judge Brown earlier this week were: Frank Leroy Tatum, Mo. resident, out of state operator's license, $21; Joseph Edward Burk Jr., speeding, $29; and Homer Terrel Barger, no operator's license and failure to register, $31.

Coleman gets 10 years for robbery

CHARLESTON — Howard Coleman of Tarpon Springs, Fla., formerly of Blytheville, Ark., was formally sentenced Wednesday to 10 years in the State Department of Correction by Circuit Judge Marshall Craig.

Coleman was found guilty of first degree robbery in a jury trial Jan. 21 in a change of venue case from Pemiscot County heard before Judge Craig. The jury, which recommended a 10- year jail sentence for Coleman, found him not guilty of first degree murder in connection with the April 5, 1973 slaying of Robert Wayne Fisk.

Fisk, who was an attendant at the Holland Raceway Service Station, was shot in the head with a .30-30 rifle during the robbery of the station in which $129.84 was taken.

Judge Craig denied probation and gave Coleman credit for 329 days spent in jail following his arrest.

In a personal injuries and damages suit brought by Kimberly D. Webb, by her next friend Harry Webb and Harry Webb individually, judgment on five counts was awarded in the amount of $14,425 against Emory Noah.

The suit against Noah stemmed from an automobile accident April 7, 1973 on Route 60, west of the intersection of Route J in Mississippi County, when Noah's car crossed over the center line and struck a car driven by Harry Webb, in which his daughter, Kimberley was a passenger.

Decrees of dissolutions of marriages were granted in four cases Clentine Neal from William Junior Neal, with custody of one minor child being awarded to Mrs. Neal, along with $25 per week child support and attorney's fee of $250 plus court costs.

Betty Ann Medley from Robert Franklin Medley; Roy Miles Howlett from Theresa Howlett; and William Eugene Housman from Darla Housman, with custody of one child awarded to Mrs. Housman.

In a uniform support suit Robert Gene Scott Jr. was ordered to pay $20 per week to Leola Scott for the support of minor children.

The Lair Music Store, located on Malone avenue, just south of the Missouri Pacific Station, is open and ready for business. A splendid line of pianos, Edison and Columbia Victrola, records, and other things usually carried in a first-class music store.

Soon after noon Wednesday, a Frisco freight train going south, jumped the track at the crossing on the Salcedo road about one mile north of Sikeston, tearing up quite a stretch of track and wrecking half dozen cars, one of which was loaded with potatoes.

Milton Blanton is on duty at the distributing window at the postoffice. He takes the place of Miss Mildred Bowman, who leaves this afternoon for a visit in Colorado.

Miss Agatha Dawson of New Madrid died Sunday at St. Mary's Infirmary in Cairo, after undergoing a serious operation.

Daniel O'Bryan, 72, of Charleston, retired attorney and farmer and former member of the state legislature from Mississippi County, died in the Delta Community Hospital this morning after a week's illness.

East Prairie-- Charles Lloyd Bloomburg, 17, died at his home near East Prairie Saturday and funeral services were conducted this afternoon.

Kathy Jo Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold, whose fifth birthday was Sunday, celebrated Saturday with a party given at the home of her parents.

Bill Scobie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Scobie, was awarded first place in the instrumental division of a music contest sponsored by the Ninth District, Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, and held in Cape Girardeau on Saturday. Other winners were: Rose Marie Cooper of Charleston, piano; and Janet Sue Burke, also of Charleston, vocal.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Morehouse are parents of a daughter born Saturday at the local hospital.

A son was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Wilma Bonner.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Beatty are parents of a son born Sunday.

Columbia-- The Morehouse Tigers saw their 39- game winning streak and a chance at the Class B state cage title shattered here in Brewer Field house Saturday in a sudden death overtime when the Sparta Trojans, on a field goal by Don Gideon, nipped them, 58- 56, in the tourney finals. The all- tourney selections found Morehouse placing Doyle Denbow and William Gray on the first five. Larry Chapman of Morehouse made the second five and Norm Vickers made honorable mention. Denbow was also an all- tourney selection last year at Cape.

Ann Landers

Relatives should take time to visit each other

Dear Ann Landers: I just returned from a 3,000-mile car trip. My father's younger brother died. He was only 53. His death was sudden and unexpected.

My father went to pieces during the service and wept uncontrollably beside the casket. He had to be physically removed from the cemetery. Of course, he was deeply grieved, but what was really bothering him was guilt. For years he kept saying he didn't have the time or money to go see his brother. Now, when it's too late, he found both the time and the money. I have never seen anyone so broken up as my father was at that funeral.

Please, Ann, print this letter for the millions of people who think they can't spare the time or money to go see someone they love. Let them answer this question: If you received a phone call with some terrible news, you'd go, wouldn't you? Well, why not go now, when you can enjoy one another? It's always later than you think.-- Sad Daughter

Dear Daughter: There's an old Yiddish expression, a promise to friends and relatives: 'We will get together at simches," which means happy occasions. They know only too well that they will get together when tragedy strikes. Thank you for a provacative letter.

Dear Ann Landers: I let my boyfriend move in with me because I thought I was pregnant and felt sure he would marry me. It turned out that I was not pregnant and he is still here, and I am still paying the rent, the phone bill, and buying the groceries.

I work long hours at a job and I haven't the time or energy to go out during the week. I need every bit of strength to do the marketing, housework and laundry. On weekends I would enjoy an evening of diversion, if only a movie, but my boyfriend always has someplace to go that doesn't include me. He is hardly ever at home except to eat and sleep.

Last week I got fed up and told him to get out. He broke down and cried. I couldn't stand it. What should I do, Ann? I'm sure he is cheating on me but I am afraid to be alone.-- Miserable Mary

Dear Mary: Get with it, kiddo. You ARE alone. I see no evidence whatever of companionship. That freeloader is getting room and board and laundry and you are getting used. Tell him he has 24 hours to clear out. If he cries, give him a box of paper towels and wish him luck.

Every time I read a letter like yours I say to myself, "That poor dame knows what she ought to do. She just needs someone to tell her to do it." So, I'm telling you.

Dear Ann Landers: The guy who said he wanted a "watch pig" instead of a watchdog because he had heard that pigs were smarter than dogs, had to be putting you on. I'm surprised you fell for it.

I live in a high-risk break-in area and we've all been told that the best protection against prowlers is a barking dog.

What did the guy think his smart pig would do if he heard a burglar? Pick up the phone and call the police? If I were a prowler and heard a pig oinking I'd break in for sure. And I'd forget the silver. Pork chops are more valuable.-- Ol' McDonnell

Dear O: An oinking pig might shake up a housebreaker more than a barking dog. What worries me is, how do you housebreak a pig?

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers's booklet, "Marriage-- What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654, enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Samothrace officers named

Officers of the newly organized Southern Baptist College Samothrace Club at Walnut Ridge, Ark., were installed recently by Gene Behannon, right, of Walnut Ridge, Northeast Arkansas District director of the Business and Professional Women's Club. The elected officers, from left, are Allecia Freels of Memphis, Tenn., treasurer; Susan Battles of Steele, secretary; Stacy Vann of New Madrid, vice president; and Karen Pickett of Black Rock, Ark., president. The purpose of the newly organized club is to help young women find their own niche in society, develop leadership potential and contribute significantly to the community. The Walnut Ridge B&PW Club is the sponsoring club.

Standing, Andrea King, Pennie Murphy, Michelle Nunn, Julie Nickels, Lana Miller, Andrea Shell and Benita Beck. Other members of the troop are Shori Hagy, Susan Sanderson, Kelly Oldham and Tammy Silvey. Leaders are Jolene Walker, Rosalie Snider and Joyce Hagy.

Caring for your new baby

Temperament shows how baby reacts to parents and objects

VII. After the First Weeks— Part 1

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to describe some of the things about normal babies that commonly worry parents--telling what to do or not to do about them. The articles should answer many questions about what to expect of a new baby and give simple instructions about solving the problems most parents face during their baby's first year of life. This section of the series (eight articles in all) concerns development of the child after the first few weeks when he is visibly growing every day, developing a few rudimentary language skills and becoming more mobile).

Temperament— Part I

Babies differ from each other in many ways. They may be big or small, fast growing or slow growing, early developers or late developers, brown-eyed or blue-eyed. One of the most important ways in which babies differ is in their temperament-- the usual way they react to you, to other people and to things around them.

You will find it much easier to understand your baby, to take care of him, to teach him and to enjoy him if you pay attention to his temperament.

There are at least nine ways in which young babies differ from each other in "temperamental characteristics." No one knows whether these characteristics or differences are inherited, whether they are formed when the baby is growing during pregnancy, or whether they develop in the first weeks of life.

In any case, they are present in the first months of life, and you will want to understand how they affect your child.

Activity level: How much does your baby move around? When you put him in bed, does he wiggle all over the crib or does he stay in the same place? When you change a diaper or put on a shirt, do you have trouble because he is constantly wiggling about or does he lie quietly and let you change him?

Normal babies may be very active or very inactive. Your job in caring for a very active baby will be very different from caring for a very inactive one.

If you believe that all babies should be active, you may be disappointed or frustrated by an inactive baby. If you think that all babies should stay still and lie quietly while being dressed or bathed, you may think that an active baby is bad or that he is active because you are not caring for him properly. Don't blame yourself or the baby. He is just made that way.

If your baby is super-active, you may just want to enjoy him. Or you may want to behave in a more soothing and gentle way so as to encourage him to slow down a little. With a very inactive baby, you may want to take more initiative in playing with him, moving him about and rewarding him for the activities which he does start on his own.

Regularity: How regular are your baby's habits? Does he always awaken at the same time, get hungry at the same time, take his nap at the same time, have his bottle at the same time? Does he vary by a small amount each day? Or is he completely unpredictable? Does he eat and drink about the same amount at his morning feeding each day?

If he is very regular, your job is usually quite easy. If he is very irregular, you will have to be prepared for daily changes! Or you may have to do more scheduling for him rather than sitting back and waiting for him to find a comfortable schedule of his own.

Of course, you can't feed him if he isn't hungry, or make him sleep if he isn't really tired. But you can feed him before he really cries in hunger and you can put him down for a quiet time or for sleep even though he isn't especially tired.

Adaptability: How long does it take him to get used to new situations or to changes? When you changed from sponge bathing to a bath, did he accept it immediately, or did it take six or seven tries before he really accepted it? If you offer him a new food or toy, does he take it promptly or does it take many trials before he will really eat it or play with it?

If he objects the first time you put a cap on his head, does he object every time you try it, or does he get used to it very quickly?

High or low "adaptability" is neither good nor bad. The child who resists change may take longer to teach. But, once taught, he won't change every time a slightly different situation comes along.

Guitarist sings

Kim McFarland, right, a 4-H Club member, plays a guitar and sings to children at the Sikeston Child Development Center as part of a 4-H planned party. The 4-Hers are working on a child care project.

ORGANIZATION

Girls and adult leaders meet in groups called troops of which there are 161,0000 troops, including TOFS.

These groups belong to councils. Girl Scout councils, which number 359 in the U.S., are local units chartered by the national organization to administer and develop Girl Scouting in a specific area.

The national organization is grouped into six regions through which councils receive services.

Club will buy 'crown and pillow'

The Sikeston DeMolay Mothers Club met Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple to discuss membership dues and cards and ideas for money- making projects.

The club voted to buy the DeMolay chapter a crown and pillow which is needed in club work.

The club will meet March 26 to work on new altar cloths.

It was also announced that a family potluck dinner will be held April 9.

---Risco happenings--

RISCO — Mrs. Roland Byrd entertained at her home for the March luncheon meeting of the Risco Rural Independent Club.

After the covered dish noon meal Mrs. Tommy Pearson called the group to order for the business session by leading them in repetition of The Lord's Prayer.

Included in the main business of the day was the further discussion of a long-planned project concerning the erection of a community billboard for notices and announcement bulletins. The billboard will be donated for the use of anyone in the community and will reportedly be erected north of the post office.

The group voted to make a contribution to the Cancer Fund Drive, and the annual movie night and dinner were discussed, with the group agreeing to view the movie, "Super Dad."

The club had as its guest Mrs. Paul Junior Cummins, who presented an informative program on cake decorating.

Mrs. Cummins distributed copies of special decorating tips and cake- cutting guides and displayed a cake-decorating catalog which also offers instructions in the art.

An imaginatively-decorated leprechaun cake demonstrated the use of decorated cakes for special occasions and an assortment of photographs were displayed which included specialized birthday, anniversary and tiered wedding cakes.

Mrs Cummins and Mrs. Gene Lancaster presented a humorous skit, "The Meticulous Customer," and later the members participated in a house- plant exchange.

Others attending were Mrs. Jerry Pearson, Mrs. Gentry May, Mrs. Verly McCord, Mrs. Aubrey Ward, Mrs. Charles Downs, Mrs. G. H. Coffer, Mrs. Robert Dockrey, Mrs. Royce Fortner and a visitor, Mrs. Bill Fortner.

Mrs. Don Landers is hostess for the April 11 luncheon meeting.

Michael Landers celebrated his sixth birthday March 6 with a cowboy birthday party at his home.

Upon arrival each guest received his own neckerchief, brown paper vest, and a cowboy hat- brimmed balloon on which he drew his own cowboy face with watercolor markers. Other games included pin the tail on the donkey, magnetic darts and "rope the steer." Prizes were individual bags of jelly beans.

The party rooms were decorated with blue, white and yellow streamers. A blue bandana print covered the table, which held a "Freckles, the Cowboy" centerpiece, matching nutcups and the matching cowboy cake specially designed by Mrs. Paul Cummins Jr.

Red bandana placemats encircled a simulated campfire, around which the children were seated for refreshments of "spud chips'n sop, nut nuggets, cactus juice punch, western cake and cowboy ice cream cones. Placecard favors were small cowboys which held pipecleaner lassos spelling out each guest's name.

Mrs. Royce Fortner, Mrs. P. C. Crouthers and Mrs. Cummins assisted Mrs. Don Landers with the party preparations.

Children attending were Chuck and Paul Allen Cummins, Angela Portner, Kathy Jo Wheeler, Sherri and Jamie Eakens, Cheryl and Billy Fornter, Angela White, Glen Wilson, Amy and Mindy McGee, Susan and Christie Pearson, Wayne Cox and Brent Landers.

Other adults present were Mrs. Mike McGee, Mrs. James Eakens and Mrs. Bill Fortner.

The women of Tallapoosa Baptist Church observed the Week of Prayer for Home Missions Thursday evening with a book study, "Evangelism, the Cutting Edge", taught by Mrs. Gene Lancaster.

Others present were Mrs. W. M. Fortner, Mrs. Frankie Knapp, Mrs. Kenny Carlisle, Mrs. Lucy Meese and Mrs. Nancy Marlow.

Southwest in NCAA

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)— Southwest Missouri meets Morgan State in a battle of veteran versus newcomer tonight for the NCAA College Division basketball championship.

Southwest, 21- 8 and ranked No. 14, made the tourney's title round for the fourth time by beating New Orleans 68- 63 Thursday night. The Missouri Club was runnerup in 1959, 1967 and 1969.

No. 2 Morgan State, 27-5, making its first appearance in the finals, edged Assumption 73- 70 as 7-foot Marvin Webster sank 29 points, grabbed 22 rebounds and connected on two crucial free throws with 28 seconds left.

The championship game begins at 9 p.m., CDT. Assumption, 21- 7, and No. 15 New Orleans, 21- 8, play a consolation match starting at 7 p.m.

It's tough to be a Duck

North American waterfowl, especially ducks, always are at the mercy of weather. Late spring snowstorms can destroy a nesting season for snow and Canada geese.

Drouth in the pothole areas of the Great Plains of the United States and Canada can seriously dent duck populations.

Aside from weather, and aside from the predictable mortality from waterfowl hunting, the birds face other perils as well. Prime among them are disease and poisoning.

Prime cause of poisoning is lead shot, scattered on the bottoms of feeding areas by hunters. It doesn't take many lead pellets eaten accidentally by a duck to kill it.

An estimated three million ducks and geese die annually in North America from eating lead shot. For several years, there has been an intensive effort to find a alternative to lead shot.

The most widely tried was soft steel shot. Drawbacks, according to critics, are that steel shot wears gun barrels faster than lead and the shot itself does not kill as effectively as lead. It also is more expensive--though that probably would be a temporary situation if the ammunition industry decided to produce steel shot in volume.

Missouri was one of a number of states cooperating in a steel- lead shot test in the 1973 season. Some hunters at Montrose Wildlife Area used steel shot, while others used lead. An observer was in the blind with each party.

Preliminary figures nationwide, as compiled by the Federal Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, indicate little difference between the two forms of shot. Hunters fired 2,082 loads of 1- 1/8 ounce steel shot and downed 443 ducks.

Hunters fired 2,088 loads of 1- 1/4 ounce lead shot and downed 458 ducks. In each case, there were 68 ducks unretrieved (15.3 per cent for steel shot, 14.8 for lead). The shots per duck downed and shots per duck retrieved were almost identical.

The Bureau tends to feel that it isn't true that steel shot would cripple more ducks than would be saved from poisoning by lead shot.

Another potential solution for lead poisoning is a shotgun pellet developed in Canada which is half lead, half iron. Jack Davis, Environment Minister for Canada, says the new shot is less toxic than lead shot and ballistically is as good.

According to the Department of the Interior, the mallard, most sought after duck in Missouri,

UCLA survives in 3 overtimes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The perils of the NCAA basketball playoffs continue Saturday with another episode after a cliff-hanging escape by UCLA and the end of the serial for Notre Dame.

Faced by sudden-death extinction, UCLA's proud defending champions put down stubborn Dayton 111-100 in triple overtime Thursday night in a pressurized West regional semifinal game.

Notre Dame wasn't so lucky, though. Michigan took the fight out of the Fighting Irish with a shocking 77-68 victory over the nation's second-ranked team.

Top-ranked North Carolina State, meanwhile, kept no one on the edge of his seat with an unsuspenseful, 92-78 rout of Providence in the East.

These results, among others, set up the regional finals.

UCLA will play San Francisco, which defeated New Mexico 64-61 in the less dramatic second game of that West doubleheader at Tucson, Ariz.

Michigan's stunning victory earned the Wolverines a berth in the Mideast finals against Marquette, a 69-61 victor over Vanderbilt in the other Mideast game at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

North Carolina State will play the East finals against Pittsburgh, which trimmed Furman 81-78 at Raleigh, N. C.

Oral Roberts and Kansas advanced to the finals of the Midwest. Oral Roberts defeated Louisville 96-93 and Kansas rallied for a 55-54 decision over Creighton in Thursday night's semifinals at Tulsa, Okla.

The best action of the night by far was the UCLA-Dayton game, an affair with all the elements of a movie thriller.

The Bruins, nine-time winners of the national championship in the last 10 years, were heavy favorites over the Flyers. And it looked like things were going to go that way, with UCLA holding a 17-point lead at one time.

But the Flyers rallied behind Mike Sylvester and Don Smith to tie the game at 80 at the end of regulation time. The score was also tied at the end of the first and second overtimes, at 88 and 98.

Then Bill Walton, UCLA's outstanding center, scored five points in the third overtime to pull it out. The Flyers couldn't run with the deep Bruins at this point and were only able to score two points to UCLA's 13 in the third extra period.

Howard Smith scored 16 points and Kevin Restani added 14 for San Francisco. The Dons grabbed the lead for good midway through the second half with eight straight points, four by Restani.

Campy Russell scored 36 points and collected 18 rebounds to trigger Michigan's upset of Notre Dame. Russell took charge of the rebounding early and Wayman Britt scored 12 points as the Wolverines bolted to a 28-8 lead over the stunned Irish.

Notre Dame later came back behind John Shumate, who scored 34 points overall, but buckled under Russell's bullseye shooting later in the second half.

Marquette put down a late rally by Vanderbilt, which had thrived on comeback victories all year. Two shots by Bo Ellis and one by Ed Daniels in a sixpoint streak with three minutes left killed the Commodores' comeback hopes.

David Thompson connected for 40 points to lead North Carolina State's big victory over Providence.

Bill Knight scored 34 points, 22 of them in the second half, to lead Pittsburgh past Furman. Lew Hill and Kirk Bruce added 12 points apiece to the Pitt offense.

Sam McCants fired in 30 points to lead Oral Roberts past Louisville. Trailing most of the game, Kansas rallied in the final four minutes behind Tommy Smith to defeat Creighton.

Four Southeast Missourians were among a troup catching over 800 pounds of King Mackerel off the Louisiana Coast recently. The King in the center weighed 68 pounds, three pounds shy of the Louisiana Gulf Coast record. Braves use DH

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National League has been conducting cautious experiments with the designated hitter rule this spring and the Atlanta Braves, for one, are pleased with the results.

The Braves nominated Jack Pierce as their DH Thursday against the New York Yankees and Pierce responded with three base hits in Atlanta's 3-2, 12-inning exhibition victory.

Pierce doubled and scored in the eighth inning and did the same thing in the 12th, bringing home the winning run on a single by John Oates. Mike Hegan drove in both New York runs with a single in the third.

The Braves were able to use a DH because the game was played at the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., home of the American League Yanks.

In other exhibition games, Baltimore routed Texas 12-3; Los Angeles blanked St. Louis 3-0; the Chicago White Sox shaded Philadelphia 6-5; Milwaukee dumped the Chicago Cubs 10-6; Boston defeated Houston 8-2; Pittsburgh trimmed Kansas City 7-1; the New York Mets edged Detroit 3-2; California stopped Cleveland 7-6; San Francisco beat San Diego 7-4; and Minnesota's split squad lost twice, bowing to Cincinnati 6-4 and Montreal 7-5.

Baltimore pounded Texas pitching for 18 base hits, three by Don Baylor. Jim Palmer pitched four scoreless innings for the Orioles.

Tommy John hurled five innings of no-hit ball for Los Angeles. Steve Garvey was the Dodger offensive star with two hits and two runs-batted-in.

Ken Henderson's three-run homer in the ninth inning lifted the White Sox past Philadelphia. Henderson's blow came off reliever Frank Linzy and capped a four-run Chicago rally.

Milwaukee collected 18 base hits, including a two-run homer by Ron Ellis and a three-run double by Don Money. Bill Madlock had three hits for Chicago to extend his hitting streak to seven games. He is hitting .630 this spring.

Reggie Cleveland hurled five scoreless innings and Carlton Fisk belted a pair of homers for Boston. The Red Sox have won six of seven games.

Dave Parker homered, singled and drove in three runs for Pittsburgh. Pirate hurlers Jerry Reuss, Bob Moose and Dave Guisti combined on a four-hitter.

Felix Millan's two-out single in the seventh gave the Mets the decisive run against Detroit. Rookie outfielder Benny Ayala homered for New York.

Denny Doyle doubled home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth in California's triumph. Catcher Charlie Sands had four hits for the Angels, including a three-run homer.

Jimmy Howarth's tie-breaking single in the ninth inning led San Francisco past San Diego. Dave Winfield had a two-run homer for the Padres and the teams finished with 15 hits apiece.

Ken Griffey keyed a four-run Cincinnati rally in the eighth with a two-run single against Minnesota. The Twins second team was dumped by Montreal's Terry Humphrey who drove in five runs with a pair of homers.

Curtis falters

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Perhaps it would help if St. Louis manager Red Schoendienst converted new Cardinal pitcher John Curtis into a long distance relief man.

It would certainly eliminate Curtis' recent problem of giving up a lot of runs in the opening inning.

In his two starts for the Redbirds, the ex-Boston lefthander has proved himself fairly effective once he's gotten warmed up.

The most recent example was a 3-0 exhibition loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday at Vero Beach.

Curtis surrendered two runs to the Dodgers in the first and that was all they needed, as L.A. pitchers Tommy John, Greg Shanahan and Charlie Hough stifled the Redbirds with just three hits.

The loss gave the Cards a split in the two-game series with the Dodgers, who fell to St. Louis, 6-4, Wednesday.

The Cardinals, now 3-3 in Graprfruit League play, were scheduled today to travel to Orlando for a game with the Minnesota Twins.

L.A.'s Steve Garvey did the most damage to the Redbirds, knocking in the two first-inning runs, then doubling and coming in on Bill Russell's single in the fourth. That marked the end of the road for Curtis and for the Cardinals.

The Dodgers' John mystified the Redbirds during his stint, allowing no hits and just two baserunners in five innings.

St. Louis' first hit didn't come until the sixth. Luis Melendez and Ted Simmons got a pair of singles in the seventh, but any hopes of a cardinal rally died when pinchhitter Tim McCarver struck out.

CALGARY — Eighth - seeded Ian Crookenden, of New Zealand, triumphed over Frantisk Pala, of Czechoslovakia, 7-6, 6-2 in a second- round singles match at the $25,000 Canadian Indoor Tennis Championships.

GOLF

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — John Maffey and Labron Harris matched 68s to tie for the first round lead in the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

League meeting

As the basketball action dies down across the county, the baseball fever is steadily growing and on the local scene the Little League will have a meeting for all the coaches and managers Saturday afternoon at 1 p.m. at the Imperial Bowling Lanes.

The cost of running your home ballooning?

See Ætna about a down-to-earth saving.

Fuel oil is up. Food bills are up. Taxes are up. But your Ætna Life & Casualty agent can tell you about some costs that could come down. Let us show you how to stay close to home this summer and still feel a million miles away!

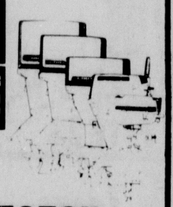
Have fun on your vacation this summer, even with the fuel shortage! All you have to do is get to know me, your local Chrysler Marine Dealer; and then — go boating on the nearest body of water with the whole family.

That way you won't waste any fuel, and you'll still be able to have all the fun you deserve. But remember, that's only if you make it in and let us show you our special money- and fuel- saving tips. Tips that will make the very most out of your special plans.

CHRYSLER Marine



SIKESTON MOTOR COMPANY
1030 S. Main

The "lead" in lead pencils is not lead, but graphite mixed with clay to make it soft and smooth enough to rub off when it is moved across paper. Hard lead has more clay mixed with the graphite than a soft lead. To make "lead", clay, powered graphite and water are mixed into a kind of dough. Put through a machine, a tiny rope of dough emerges, which is straightened out and cut into pieces. The pieces are then baked for several hours in a big oven to drive out the moisture. When removed from the oven, they are hard slender sticks. To complete the pencil, these sticks of lead are encased in wood and usually toped with an eraser. Only certain woods are suitable for lead pencils. The best is red cedar. A pencil made of red cedar is easy to sharpen.

The Waterfine Super Appliance is not a water softner but a water refiner. Although it does soften water, it does much more, too! Thanks to an exclusive "Patented Process of Treating Water", a Waterfine Water Refiner cleans filters and removes odor and taste minerals from your water. More and more people are finding out the advantages of Refined Water every day and more and more people are discovering the difference that a Waterfine Water Refiner makes over an ordinary water conditioner. Want to know more? Call Braswell.

I'VE BEEN RIGGLED AND GIGGLED AND PAINTED INSIDE by the carpenter's brigade. I tell you the things we homes go through to keep young looking, sometimes makes me wonder if its worth it. However, I must admit that my 2 bedrooms give a more cozy and refreshing look and my kitchen has that fresh clean smell and I love that new coat that my cabinets got, the color was so becoming to my snack bar. The big living room looks so nice with my fresh cleaned carpet. My bath has a shower over the tub and all rooms are nice size with roomy closets. I have a screened in patio and a nice work shop. Also central heating. NOW we homes don't like to sound as though we're bragging, but I'm about the cutest thing you'll find for $13,900.00... 319 Virginia

Today in U.S. history

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, March 15, the 74th day of 1974. There are 291 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 44 B.C., Julius Caesar was assassinated.

On this date:

In 1603, the French navigator and explorer, Samuel de Champlain, sailed for the New World.

In 1767, the seventh American president, Andrew Jackson, was born.

In 1820, Maine entered the Union as the 23rd state.

In 1874, France assumed a protectorate over the central Indochina region of Annam, which had been under Chinese control.

In 1916, a U.S. force of 12,000 soldiers under Gen. John J. Pershing was ordered into Mexico to capture the revolutionary Mexican leader Pancho Villa.

Ten years ago, French President Charles de Gaulle began a 10-day visit to Mexico and French territories in the Western Hemisphere.

Five years ago, bloody border fighting was reported between Soviet and Communist Chinese forces.

One year ago, President Nixon recalled Ambassador David Bruce from retirement to head the new American diplomatic establishment in Communist China.

Today's birthdays: Singer Eddy Arnold is 56. Actor George Brent is 70. Bandleader Harry James is 58.

Thought for today: Youth comes but once in a lifetime. — Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, American poet, 1807-1882.

Ark-Mo officials discuss sale of gas subsidiary

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark- Two representatives from the Sikeston, Mo., Light and Water Office joined 16 other interested parties at a meeting called by the Arkansas- Missouri Power Co., to discuss the sale of Associated Natural Gas, a subsidiary of the firm.

The representatives were Dick Inman, director of the light and water office, and Garwood Sharp, member of the Board of Municipal Utilities.

Ark- Mo was ordered to sell the gas subsidiary by the Securities and Exchange Commission when Ark- Mo was absorbed by the Middle South Utilities System.

A total of 17 parties have shown serious interest in buying Associated Natural Gas, including Sikeston and several other Missouri Municipalities interested in buying the distribution system within their communities.

Tuesday's two- hour meeting was held at Ark-Mo's general office in Blytheville and was designed to give the prospective bidders an opportunity to ask technical questions.

"This is not a fire sale," August L. Griesedieck of St. Louis, general counsel for Ark- Mo, told the 31 persons in attendance.

"Neither is it a bankruptcy. Whatever proposal eventually is accepted will be in the best interest of the public, our employees and our stockholders."

Not only must a final proposal be approved by the SEC, Ark- Mo President Frank G. Smith said, "we must be assured that our customers' rights will be protected, as well as the rights of our employees."

Ark- Mo will have to be assured that the new owner will honor the Company's contractual arrangements, Smith said, "to insure that our present 62,000 customers continue to receive quality service."

As for employe protection, Smith said, "their earning potential, their tenure and certain Company fringe benefits, such as retirement plans, vacation schedules and insurance benefits, must be protected."

Smith indicated that, before a proposal is accepted by Ark- Mo, "additional negotiations may have to be held with the bidders to insure employe protection."

For the next four to six weeks, he said, bidders will be invited to inspect the gas property and gas company records.

By the second week in May, Smith said, Ark- Mo will begin accepting serious proposals from bidders.

Those attending Tuesday's meeting represented a cross- section of interests.

Included were several major gas companies from Arkansas, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, Tennessee, Louisiana, Illinois, and Texas; financial consultants; attorneys; and several municipalities.

When Ark- Mo, in the fall of 1973, published an invitation for an "expression of interest" in acquiring the gas property, Smith said, "we received a total of 87 inquiries."

Through correspondence, he said, "requesting that they notify us of the precise nature of their interest, the number of prospective bidders was reduced to the people we met with Tuesday."

New Hamburg cabin entered

BENTON — A cabin located four miles west of New Hamburg and owned by Earnest Wilson of Sikeston was broken into Thursday night and personal property valued at $150 was taken, according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Entrance was gained by taking a glass out of one of the windows.

The robbery was discovered by Mrs. Rita Duncan of Oran, who reported it to Wilson.

A clock and gun were taken.

Cunningham bound over

BLOOMFIELD — Phillip Ray Cunningham was bound over to Circuit Court for trial on two counts of burglary and stealing after an attorney representing him waived preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court before Judge Koss W. Blomeyer. He is charged with stealing property belonging to Walton Lee off Puxico.

Raymond Holeweg and Harold Louis Macke, charged with disturbing the peace, were placed on probation for six months under supervision. The two men are to report back to court on Sept. 12.

John D. Grimes, charged with driving while intoxicated, refusing the breathalyzer test and driving while his license is under suspension, was allowed time to enter the Veterans Hospital in Poplar Bluff for treatment. Grimes had been receiving treatment at the state hospital in Farmington but had left the hospital without being released. The case was continued indefinitely, pending outcome of treatment and length of stay in hospital.

Roy Edward Matheney was granted time to obtain counsel on a charge of possession of marijuana. On other charges of unauthorized vehicle plates and improper muffler he was fined $10 on each charge.

Charges of possession of marijuana against Andy Taylor of Bernie and Larry Micheal Irby of Dexter were continued until March 28.

Bill Gene Leathers of Dexter, charged with non-support, appeared in court with receipts of payment toward the support of his three children. The receipts show he has paid $20 per week since charges were filed against him. He is to appear back in court on April 18.

A charge of destroying personal property, against Henry B. Long, was continued until March 28.

Fines imposed for traffic violations were against Raymond H. Lape of Bell City, speeding, $13; Dobbie R. Harrison of Essex, out of state license, $10 and Micheal Earl Lumsden of Dexter, failure to transfer vehicle license, $10.

Firemen make 2 fire runs

CHARLESTON — Two fire calls were answered by the fire department Thursday.

At 11:20 a.m. firemen were called to 202 Washington Avenue to extinguish a grass fire which threatened a storage shed on property owned by Mrs. Walter McCullough.

At 4:30 p.m. the department was called to East Prairie Route One near Big Book Corner. A house being torn down on the Joker Warren property was allowed to burn and firemen stood by to prevent the blaze from spreading.

In 1972 candy manufacturers sold 963 million pounds of candy bars valued at more than $563 million.

LEGAL NOTICES

CITY OF SIKESTON, MO.
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of one and one- half inch hotmix asphaltic pavement on six inch soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on and along Adams Street between Jaycee and Kiwanis Street in the city of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the council of the city of Sikeston, state of Missouri, as follows: section 1: that the council of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the city of Sikeston. section 2: that the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. section 3: that the estimated cost of the improvement is $6.90 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. section 4: that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the state of Missouri and the ordinances of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the city council the general revenue fund of the city of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. section 5: that any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the state of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the industrial commission of Missouri. section 6: that the city clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the city of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 4th day of March, 1974. Approved: John Frank Ferrell, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

Texas musician-evangelist to lead revival services

Revival services at Miner Baptist Church, Highway 62 at Route H, will begin Sunday and continue through March 24.

Dr. Carlos Gruber of Nacodgoches, Tex., will be the evangelist. The Rev. Grady L. Etheridge is pastor. The Rev. Dr. Gruber, a concert violinist and vocal soloist, has been a musician-evangelist since 1945, averaging 25 revivals a year.

He was born in Riga, Latvia, and became a Christian when he was 11. With 2,000 other Latvian Baptists, he moved to Brazil, where he was active in jungle mission work. He graduated from college in Sao Paulo, Brazil, where he studied violin and was active as a choir conductor and music leader in Brazilian Baptist churches.

The Rev. Dr. Gruber came to the United States in 1937 and graduated in 1940 from Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, Tex. He was ordained to the ministry the same year.

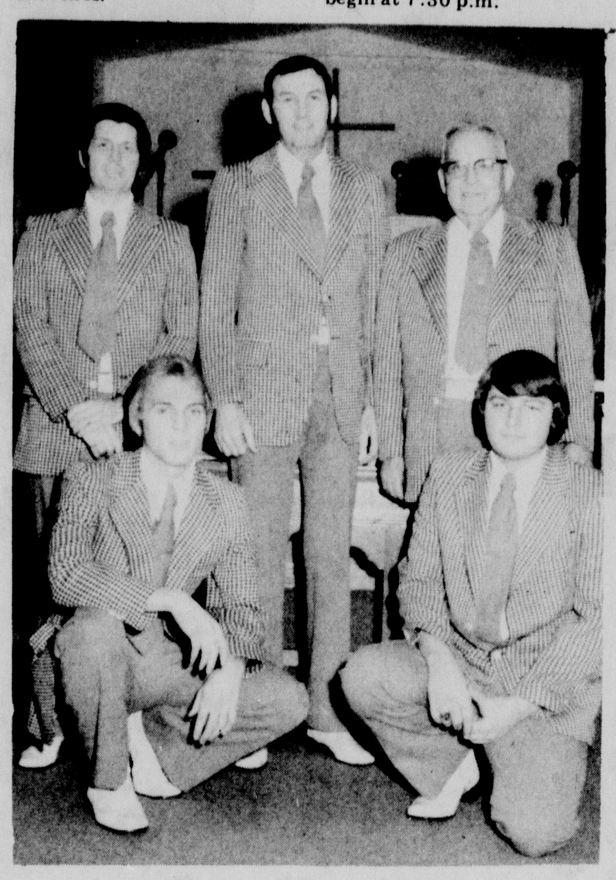
He served as pastor of the Latvian Baptist Church in New York City for six years and was publisher of a Latvian monthly. In 1948, the Rev. Dr. Gruber became an American citizen and married Vivian Doris Mercer, college professor in Spanish and French.

James Wilson, Miner Baptist music director, will lead singing during the revival.

Times of services Sunday are: Sunday School, 9:30 a.m.; morning worship, 10:30 a.m.; church training, 6 p.m.; and evening worship, 7 p.m. Weekday services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Carlos Gruber

Nursery care will be provided.



Quartet to sing

The Victory Quartet, above, of Granite City, Ill., will be one of the featured groups on a gospel singing program scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Morehouse school gymnasium. Also singing will be the Murphy Family of Poplar Bluff, Melody Masters of Granite City and the Tate Singers of Sikeston.

Revival set next week at Lilbourn

LILBOURN — Revival services will begin Sunday at First Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. and continue through the March 24 morning service.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Earl Tharp of DeSoto who, until recently, was pastor of Red Star Baptist Church at Cape Girardeau.

Music will be under the direction of Neal Helmbacher of Portageville.

The Rev. Mr. Tharp will show slides of his Holy Land tour Sunday at 6:30 p.m., preceding the evening service.

Family Night will be observed Wednesday night. Gifts will be given to the largest family present, oldest couple and youngest parents; Thursday night will be Youth Night, and Saturday will be Children's Night, according to the Rev. Robert Medlock, pastor.

I walked by the field of a certain lazy fellow and saw that it was overgrown with thorns, and covered with weeds; and its walls were broken down. Then, as I looked, I learned this lesson:
"A little extra sleep,
A little more slumber.

Eastside to host weekend youth rally

This weekend the youth at Eastside Church of the Nazarene, Ralph Avenue at Betty Street, will have Dan and Kay Croy of Olathe, Kan., as leaders and speakers in special services.

Beginning at 9:30 Saturday morning will be sessions of Bible study, training, rap sessions, recreation and a time devoted to spiritual growth.

The Croys who will also be present for services at 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday moring, have traveled with both Nazarene Lost and Found groups of singers across the United States in the summer, and last summer they were the leaders of the Lost and Found West group.

Mrs. Croy is the former Kay Hawkins of Sikeston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hawkins, 1503 E. Matthews Ave. The Croys both graduated from Mid-America Nazarene College at Olathe. This summer they will move to Seattle, Wash. where he will become minister of youth and youth music in Aurora Church of the Nazarene.

Teen-agers from three churches of the Southeast Zone met Feb. 27 at Eastside Church of the Nazarene for a Zone Teen Bible Quiz contest. Churches with teams were First Nazarene Church of Sikeston, Eastside and First Nazarene Church of Cape Girardeau.

The top five were chosen to represent the zone and will go to the Kirkwood church for the District Teen Quiz April 6.

First place winner in the zone contest was Alayna Morris of the Sikeston First church; second, Charlotte Mims, Eastside; third, Trudie Stephenson, Eastside and fourth, Julie Guard, Cape Girardeau. Substitute is Anita Clark of Sikeston First.

The top five winners of the District contest will go to the Regional Bible Quiz at Mid-America Nazarene College at Olathe, Kan., May 2 and 3.

Former East Prairie pastor earns promotion

ANDERSON, Ind.— The Rev. J. L. Hatchel, former pastor of First Church of God in East Prairie, Mo., has been promoted to director of fund services of the Board of Church Extension and Home Missions of the Church of God.

The Rev. Mr. Hatchel has been working in the denomination offices in Anderson since he left East Prairie, but now heads the division with five employes under his direction.

The annual report on campaign services of his department for 1973 indicated a record breaking year with 35 separate campaigns conducted during the year, raising a total of $2,274,123.34, most of which went to building funds in local churches.

His home mailing address is 925 E. Post Road, Anderson, Ind. 46012.

West End Baptists complete study course

Members of West End Baptist Church, 1006 Maude St., have recently completed a church study course in Christian leadership. fifty-one adults completed the study, and 38 youth completed a Bible survey study.

A new study started March 13 on the subject: "An Introduction to the Bible". The Rev. William Hobson anticipates an enrollment in this study of about 75 persons. Credits leading to diplomas in Christian development, Christian leadership and program services will be offered as ultimate goals.

The Rev. Mr. Hobson, the newly elected pastor at West End Baptist Church, is an alumnus of the American Baptist Theological Seminary in Nashville, Tenn. a college owned by Southern and National Baptist Conventions

The Rev. Mr. Hobson has published in the church administration guide of the church, "that his ultimate goal is to earn the respect of the entire membership, and minister to the economic survival of Sikeston, by way of a theocentric movement beginning at home (the local church) and spreading into the economy system of the city-county.

"Promotional emphasis should not be left to ignorance, nor the voice of the majority, but through Christian education enhanced by scientific and technological skills in leadership."

Dr. Sells to speak Sunday

Dr. James L. Sells, president of Southwest Baptist College at Bolivar, will be guest speaker for services at 10:40 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday at Trinity Baptist Church, Highway 61 North.

Dr. Sells earned bachelor of science and master of science degrees at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Ill., a doctor of education degree at Columbia University in New York City and has done post-doctoral study at University of California in Los Angeles.

Jean Laffitte, famed buccaneer, was pardoned by President James Madison, for his assistance to Gen. Andrew Jackson in the Battle of New Orleans.

Little Vine church plans homecoming

MATTHEWS -- Little Vine General Baptist Church on Matthews Route One will observe its annual homecoming Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. helping celebrate the church's 87th anniversary will be singing by The New Creation, a choir from Mid-America Teen Challenge Center in Cape Girardeau, and the Tolbert Sisters of Sikeston.

Little Vine was organized in 1887 by Rev. C. N. Darrow with four charter members. Today the church has 130 members and an average Sunday School attendance of 120. From the days of the Rev. Mr. Darrow to the present, Little Vine has built a new auditorium, Sunday School rooms, two parsonages and moved the old church building so that it has become the middle section of the present church.

Since 1911 the church has employed the services of eight pastors: J. E. Evans, 1911-1938; G. A. Griffey, 1939-1950; Archie McKay, 1950-1958; James Graham, 1959-1962; Tommy Caudle, 1962-1966; Joe Powell, 1966-1967; Ellis Grant, 1967-1971; and Robert Cates, the pastor since 1972.

Three years ago Little Vine began setting a day aside each year to celebrate its anniversary. During the first two years the church has experienced large crowds and a close fellowship with some of its long-time members.

"This year we are pleased to have with us The New Creation and the Tolbert Sisters to bring the gospel in song and witness," said the Rev. Mr. Cates, who explained that the mission of The New Creation is to speak "on the level of the people."

This group of young men is made up of former drug addicts, runaways, ex-convicts and criminals who will be sharing how Christ has changed their lives, he added.

The Tolbert Sisters have been favorites in this areas for several years, as well as appearing in many states with a number of the top gospel singing groups, he continued.

The services will begin at 10 a.m. with The New Creation providing the morning program until 11:20. Following the morning sermon, lunch will be served in the dining hall.

Both singing groups, along with local talent, will sing in the afternoon.

Tolberts to sing

The Tolbert Sisters -- Jean, left and Ann Tolbert and Grace Tolbert McCann, right -- a gospel singing trio, will be present Sunday to help Little Vine General Baptist Church celebrate its annual homecoming and 87th anniversary.

Missionary to talk at First Assembly

The Rev. Ernest G. Jones, an Assembly of God missionary to Senegal, West Africa, will speak Sunday in the 5:30 p.m. youth service and the 7 o'clock evening service at First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, the Rev. T. A. McDonough, pastor, has announced.

During their past term of missionary service, the Rev. Mr. Jones and his wife Marjorie pastored Evangel Temple at Dakar, Senegal's capital city. They fostered a ministry among West African university students and are planning to open a coffeehouse near the Dakar University campus.

Mrs. Jones served as principal of a junior high school with an enrollment of 240 students, which is affiliated with Evangel Temple in the cosmopolitan city of 650,000 people. The Joneses also supervised three weekly radio broadcasts and worked in the Senegal Bible Institute.

A veteran missionary the Rev. Mr. Jones served as field fellowship chairman and superintendent of the national Assemblies of God, which has about 800 members and adherents in Senegal, where the population is 80 per cent Moslem.

He was also director of the International Correspondence Institute for Senegal This Assemblies of God auxiliary is a worldwide literature program for teaching and evangelism.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Jones served for two four-year terms as missionaries in Malawi, East Africa. During that time, Mr. Jones traveled to villages in the central and northern parts of the country opening several Assemblies of God missions.

During this missions rally, Missionary Jones will relate some of his experiences in Africa and will explain plans for further ministry in Senegal

Also, a film, "Greater Is He", which is the story of a Dakar university student who experienced salvation and Pentecost through the outreach ministry of Evangel Temple, will be shown.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

For though I spend my life searching for wisdom, knowledge, and skill, I must leave all of it to someone who hasn't done a day's work in his life. This is not only foolish, but unfair. So what does a man get for all his hard work? Days full of sorrow and grief, and restless, bitter nights. It is all utterly ridiculous. So I decided that there was nothing better for a man to do than to enjoy his food and drink, and his job. Then I realized that even this pleasure is from the hand of God.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

126. Israel Loses The Ark and Eli's Death

When the army of Israel was camped near Ebenezer, the Philistines attacked them and slew about 4000 men. Thus the elders of Israel sought to discover why the Lord had permitted their defeat. They decided to bring the Ark of the Covenant from Shiloh to save them, and Eli's sons, Hophni and Phinehas, accompanied the Ark. When the people of Israel saw the Ark coming, their shouts were loud enough to make the ground shake! The Philistines were filled with fright, but they decided to fight as never before—lest they become slaves of Israel, and they defeated Israel again, slaying 30,000 footmen. "And the ark of God was taken; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas were slain." (i Samuel 4:11)

One man of the tribe of Benjamin ran from the battle and arrived at Shiloh with his clothes torn and dirt on his head. Eli, now blind and 98 years old, anxiously awaited news of the battle, for he feared for the Ark of the Covenant. The messenger related that Israel had suffered defeat and the Ark had been taken. When Eli heard, "...he fell from off the seat backward by the side of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died: for he was an old man, and heavy: And he had judged Israel 40 years."

(I Samuel 4:18)

Korean Christians take firm stand

By David Poling (NEA

Just last year we witnessed one of the great gatherings in church history when more than one million people swarmed into Seoul, Korea, to hear evangelist Billy Graham. Today a significant number of Korean Christians are putting their faith into action — confronting the dictatorial policies of President Park.

Historically, Christians have known that freedom of religion and freedom of speech belong in the same bag. Pastors and prominent churchmen are facing squarely the repressive policies of Mr. Park. There is now the realization that the suspension of national elections means an attack on the press, on academic freedom, and on the rights of public worship and assembly. Korea in 1974 reads like America 1776. Korean Christians, at great risk, have channeled their deep personal pietism into intense political activism.

Reports received in this country indicate that pastors, college students, seminarians and ecumenical councils are prepared to go to prison rather than endure the Occidental tyranny that now grips Seoul.

Faculty and students at Hankuck Seminary, a Presbyterian theological seminary, and Teagun seminary, a Catholic seminary, have shaved their heads in public protest against government repression. Major complaints are varied but generally follow these lines:

1. Freedom of faith, speech, publishing, assembly.
2. Academic freedom on campus.
3. Ending police surveillance, release of imprisoned students.
4. Practice of free democracy.
5. End to dominance of Japanese investment.

The Korean Council of Churches summarized the aspirations of many Christians when it stated:

"Human rights are the most valuable thing given by God. God, who created man in his own image, released mankind from all kinds of restrictions, and he intends a society in which human rights are not infringed upon.

On the opening, wheat futures were 3 to 9 cents a bushel lower, March 5.30; corn was 2 lower to ½ higher, March 2.94; oats were 1½ lower to ¼ higher, May 1.41¾ and soybeans were unchanged to 6 lower, March 6.30.

Council tentatively accepts bids

EAST PRAIRIE — Bids on a sanitary refuse collection service and a new police car were tentatively accepted Thursday night by the City Council.

Only two bids were submitted for a contract for the refuse service, which went to Bill Jones of East Prairie, the low bidder, who submitted a bid of $2.50 per home per month.

An agreement on the costs for commercial pickup, where the fee will remain flexible, remains to be worked out between Jones and the city. The service will go into effect as soon as the commercial agreement is reached and a contract signed.

The City Council adopted an ordinance setting the collection and transportation regulations for the service and penalties for failure to comply in a Feb. 27 special session.

Collections will be made at homes once a week. Containers must be leakproof, water-proof and fitted with a fly-tight lid; have handles or bails and tapered sides for easy emptying. They are to be not less than 20 gallons nor more than 35 gallons in size and can be either metal, rubber or weatherproof plastic. The containers are not to exceed 75 pounds in weight when filled, and may be placed at the curb or alley at each home for collection.

The penalty for failure to comply can be a fine of not less than $5, nor more than $500.

A bid of $3.25 per home per month was submitted by Gene Cade of East Prairie.

A billing charge of 50 cents per month will be added to the $2.50 rate by the city.

Presson Ford Co. of East Prairie submitted a low bid of $3,285.88 for a 1974 model police car. The bid will be accepted, provided the car meets the required specifications. Other bids submitted were Pope Motors of East Prairie, $3,575, and Winchester Chevrolet of East Prairie, $3,323.

The council voted to reaffirm the crape myrtle as the city's official flower, as requested by the Women's Improvement Club. The flowering shrub will be promoted during the club's annual spring garden sale.

In routine action the council approved expenditures of $7,176.25 for February; the collector's report of $17,756.24 and the police judge's report, which showed a total of $225 in fines collected.

from the jury.

The defense also stated that it had an obligation to present the best possible witnesses in Harrington's behalf and said if it had not been misled by the prosecutor, it would not have used Baker as a witness. "We feel his testimony was damaging to Harrington," the defense motion stated.

The defense said Baker told one story to a deputy sheriff on the morning of the slaying and retracted his story on the witness stand.

The defense also sought to support its position by calling Pros. Atty. Jim Moore and defense attorney James Crenshaw to the witness stand for questioning.

On being asked why he did not supply the defense with a copy of the FBI statement Moore said he did not receive a statement from Kemp until the evening before the trial and only had the statement in his possession approximately 16 hours before he did provide the defense with a copy.

Concerning the statements from Baker, Moore said he was not aware that he had the statements from Baker in his file.

Crenshaw testified that he asked Moore on several occasions for a copy of the FBI statements and Moore told him he had not received any copies

The state called to the witness stand, Jim Robison, the second defense attorney, When asked why he did not take a statement from the FBI agent himself, Robison said he was representing an indigent person who could not finance a trip to Chicago for his counsel to talk to the agent.

Robison also said he was aware of the law that the prosecutor must supply the defense a copy of all statements.

Portageville shooting incident investigated

PORTAGEVILLE — New Madrid County Sheriff'd Department is continuing its investigation of a shooting Wednesday night into the home of Eugene J. Cross on Route Three, two and a half miles north of Portageville.

Cross is employed in the industrial relations department on Noranda Aluminum Inc. in St. Jude Industrial Park where United Steel Workers of America Local 7686 have been on strike since Jan. 31.

A sheriff's deputy today said that nine .22 caliber rifle shots were fired through the windows of the house sometime between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 6 a.m. Thursday.

The shooting failed to awaken the family and no one was injured. Cross discovered the shooting early Thursday morning when he noticed holes in a picture window.

Three bullets which were embedded in one of the floors were recovered by the sheriff's department.

10:30 ABC— MAKE A WISH— This series with its fast- paced and visually fascinating format encourages children in the 6- to- 22 year- old age bracket to think of all the possibilities raised by two key words— in history, geography, literature, art, mythology and language. Original songs also are created to describe each key word. Live action interviews, animation, historic film clips, and film shot on location throughout the U. S., as well as abroad, are used to explore the meanings and associations of the key words. Tom Chapin hosts the series and performs the original songs which are written by his brother Harry Chapin. Today's topics are "Road" and "Hand"

11:00 ABC— KID POWER— This half- hour animated series concerns itself with the lives of neighborhood children of various ethnic backgrounds, and deals with subjects such as honesty, prejudice, teamwork and handling new responsibilities that have meaning for 6- to- 12 year olds. The show is based on the

"The American Film Institute Salute to James Cagney"...

JAMES CAGNEY— LONG— TIME ECOLOGIST AND MAN OF THE SOIL

The student body at Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla., was surprised when actor James Cagney, there to receive an honorary degree as Doctor of Humanities, got up to speak. Instead of a dissertation on acting and other aspects of show business, Cagney delivered a well-reasoned address on soil conservation.

Ecology, conservation and recycling of materials are subjects that have interested Cagney for many years. In fact, long before that speech at Rollins, Cagney, in the mid- 1950s, was one of the first of the Hollywood personalities to take an active interest in ecology.

Cagney's interest in the subject is just one of many facets of the legendary film star's life now being recalled in Hollywood as he prepares for his first public appearance in 13 years. The occasion is "The American Film Institute Salute to James Cagney," which will be broadcast as a special entertainment event Monday, March 18 (8:30- 10:00 PM, DST) on the CBS Television Network.

It is generally known that Cagney is an amateur artist of some stature, but it is generally not known that he carries his recycling theories over into his artwork. He paints on shirt- boards, for example, and he believes that there are literally hundreds of homely, everyday items that can be reused and recycled into the environment.

Cagney has been a man of the soil since his very early days in motion pictures. He has a farm at Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts, and a spread in New York State, where he grows vegetables for his family and friends. He also has a reputation as a breeder of prize cattle.

Mary Tyler Moore is narrator of "We the Women," the historical special to be broadcast Sunday, March 17 (7:00- 8:00 PM, DST) on the CBS Television Network as the first in THE AMERICAN PARADE series of 13, hour- long, primetime, American history- oriented programs to be presented on the Network over the next three years in conjunction with the country's 1976 bicentennial. CBS News is producing the series for the Network. "We the Women" looks at the history of women in America through the lives of some of the country's most famous suffragettes.

Julie London likes the idea of going to work and returning each day with her husband, Bobby Troup. And that's the convenience offered them as stars of NBC Television Network's "Emergency!" series, in which Julie portrays nurse Dixie McCall.

Julie's first fame came with her singing debut at a Hollywood nightclub, where she introduced "Cry Me a River," which has since proved to be the most popular version of the song ever recorded.

Shortly after graduation from high school in San Bernardino, Calif., she went to Hollywood and worked as a salesgirl. The late Alan Ladd's wife, talent scout Sue Carol, spotted her and arranged a screen test which brought a contract for six pictures-- the first titled "The Red House," with Edward G. Robinson-- and Julie was launched as an actress.

Her singing won her more motion picture roles and after appearances in nightclubs coupled with her recordings, she was offered a role with Jose Ferrer in "The Great Man."

She has appeared in some of the country's top night spots, including the Tropicana in Las Vegas, the Blue Room of the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans, the Westside Room at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles, the Fairmont in San Francisco and New York's Waldorf- Astoria.

Julie and Bobby live in Encino, Calif., with daughter Kelly, 11, and twin sons Jody and Reese, 10.

OUR 63RD YEAR | 15¢ PER COPY | SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI, | FRIDAY, MARCH 15, 1974 | 24 PAGES | NUMBER 13

Hundreds of Missouri high school students crowded into the Sikeston High School cafetorium Thursday (top photo) to ask Maureen Klein and Karen Patterson where they would be staying while attending the annual conference of the Missouri Association of Student Councils in Sikeston today and Saturday. Opening ceremonies were held today at the field house (right photo), and students heard opening remarks from Lenora Younger (left photo) of Platte City, executive secretary of the MASC. Out-of- town students became acquainted with Sikeston students, (bottom photo), including Chumpica Cooke, left, a foreign student from Ceylon representing Carthage High School who chats with Susie Adams.

House okays 3 big money bills

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Three major money bills to fund higher education, prisons, welfare, and the cost of the General Assembly received first-round approval in the Missouri House Thursday.

The total cost of the three bills is about $695 million for fiscal 1974-75.

The bill for higher education was approved quickly with no substantial funding added or taken away from any university.

The sum for the University of Missouri remains about $115 million, or $5 million less than the school requested. However, the total is $10 million more than MU's current operating budget.

Final passage on the money bills may come next week.

The total cost of higher education was about $268 million, and the welfare and corrections bill totalled about $420 million. However, the liveliest debate of the day concerned a $7.3 million bill to pay for the legislature and its staff. House Republicans attacked the language of the bill, saying it contains no detailed line item budgeting that is found in all other agency bills.

GOP Floor Leader Robert Snyder said "All the other budgets we want itemized, but we don't want to tell the public how we spend our funds." Snyder said a lack of justiciation for legislative expenses will lead the public to feeling "there's always something unethical" going on in Jefferson City.

Rep. Joe Frappier, R-Florissant, noted a 700 per cent increase in funds for legislative travel (in addition to mileage) and said "We've got enough money in there to send every one of us to Majorca for two weeks."

The cost of the legislature this year was about $3.5 million, but the bill approved Thursday would raise that figure to $6.5 million. The cost of both houses for the 1974-75 year is more than double that of the current fiscal year.

The Missouri House also gave first-round approval to an appropriations bill funding the Department of Social Services, which includes welfare functions of state government, and the Division of Corrections.

The measure provides for spending about $202 million in state funds and $218 million in federal funds.

Deleted from the bill was $100,000 for a move of 170 welfare employes to St. Louis.

The amendment specifies that no state funds can be used for rental of a building where the department had planned to move the employes.

The move was announced Wednesday by Robert L. James, an assistant to the governor.

Earlier the House gave final approval to a measure delaying the deadline for compliance of third and fourth class counties with ambulance regulation legislation passed during the last session.

The extension moves the compliance date from July 1, 1974 to July 1, 1975. It also includes Jefferson County among those granted an extension.

Contracts signed

Lilbourn Mayor Bill Tope, left, and City Clerk Harold Ponder (both seated) signed and sealed contracts Thursday with L and T Construction Inc. of Grand Rivers, Ky., for expansion and improvements to the city's water system. Standing, from left, are Joe Williamson Jr. of St. Louis of Williamson and Associates consulting engineers; Charles W. Lee, of Denver, Colo., Economic Development Administration project engineer; Ray Lucas, president of L and T Construction; and Dennis Hurley, New Madrid County supervisor for Farmers Home Administration.

Judge to rule March 25 on motion for retrial

BENTON — A motion for a new trial for James "Peterboy" Harrington, 25, of Sikeston was taken under advisement until March 25 by Judge Marshall Craig Thursday in Circuit Court. Harrington was found guilty on Jan. 31 by a Circuit Court jury of second- degree murder in the 1971 slaying of Kenneth Ellison in Sikeston.

To support a written motion for a new trial, the defense charged: The court erred in allowing Charles Kemp, a Chicago FBI agent, to testify about statements Harrington made to him the day he was captured. The defense attorneys said the prosecuting attorney failed to furnish them with copies of the statement Harrington made to Kemp and his remarks prior to the trial in violation of court orders.

The court erred in overruling a motion for a continuance and the motion should have been granted because the testimony presented by the FBI agent on the morning of the trial came as a surprise to the defense attorneys, who had been led to believe that no incriminating statements had been made by Harrington.

The court erred in allowing a privately retained attorney to participate as prosecutor and thus deprived Harrington of a fair trial.

County court to help buy new ambulance

BENTON — The Scott County Court announced Thursday that it is purchasing a new ambulance for north Scott County and also will help finance a two-way radio system for the county hospitals and ambulances.

The announcement came after J. A. Chronister of Chaffee, administrator of the Chaffee Housing Authority; Lynn Lancaster of Sikeston, assistant director of the Bootheel Comprehensive Health Council; and Mrs. Ellie Knight of Chaffee Scott County director of the retired senior citizens program; appeared before the court to discuss ambulance services.

Presiding Judge Les Lankford said he does not know who is really responsible for ambulance services. "In the cities they are responsible for their own, but in rural areas the court would probably be responsible," he remarked.

The Court will only be paying $4,000 on the ambulance, which cost approximately $16,000. The other $12,000 will be provided by federal money. The court will also pay only $1,000 of the total cost of the two-way radio communication system.

Judge Lankford said the new ambulance would serve Oran, Chaffee, Scott City, Kelso, Illmo, Commerce and Morley. "The exact location of where the ambulance will be placed has not been decided," he said.

The Court also announced that it will accept bids on the remodeling of the courtroom.

Bids will also be accepted on repainting the courtroom, new carpeting, drapes, jury box, tables for attorneys, witness box and the juvenile courtroom.

Lilbourn to expand and improve water system

LILBOURN-- Work on a $219,040 expansion and improvement project to the city's water system facilities is scheduled to begin next week by L and T Construction Inc. of Grand Rivers, Ky.

Contracts were signed Thursday by Mayor Bill Tope which completed a four- year effort in planning and securing financing for the project by the city.

Improvements to be made include tripling the water treatment facilities, erection of a second high storage at the northwest corner of Delmo Housing project in the south edge of town, installation of water lines in some sections of the city where water is not now available and replacing some small water mains with larger mains.

Upon completion of the project the city will be able to increase the water supply to Public Water Supply District No. 1 which will supply water to the vocational technical school of New Madrid County R- 1 Enlarged School District on Highway 61 near Howardville.

The project is financed by a $125,040 grant from the U. S. Department of Commerce Economic Development Administration and funds from a $94,000 revenue bond issue approved in 1972 for repayment of a Farmers Home Administration Loan.

Others present for the signing of the contracts and a pre- construction conference at the city hall were City Clerk Harold Ponder, Ray Lucas, president of L and T Construction Inc.; George W. Neuhausel, vice president and Phyllis Binkley office manager of L and T; Dennis Hurley, New Madrid County supervisor of Farmers Home Administration; Ernie Broughton Jr. of Columbia, FHA engineer; Charles W. Lee of Denver, Colo, FDA engineer; Joe Williamson of Williamson and Associates of St. Louis, consulting engineer; city attorney Harold Jones, former Mayor Jim Dambach, and city water superintendent Johnny Barnes.

Perryville man killed, 5 hurt

A Perryville man was killed and five other persons were injured in three area traffic accidents Thursday and early today, according to the highway patrol. The fatality brings the number of persons killed this year to 12, compared with 19 at this same time last year.

Brad William Eugas, 17, of Perryville died at 7:35 a.m. today on Route J, four miles east of Yount when he lost control of his car on a curve, ran off the highway, came back across the road and struck a westbound pickup truck driven by Herman Francis Zahner, 53, of Perryville.

The body was taken to Young and Sons Funeral Home in Perryville.

Zahner and a passenger in his car, Thomas Michael Crews, 16, of Fredericktown, received serious injuries and were taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

Two passengers received serious injuries at 8 p.m. Thursday on Route D at the east city limits of Lilbourn when a car driven west by Anderson Sylvester, 33, of Malden went out of control and skidded into an eastbound car driven by Lillie Mae Cole, 67, of Lilbourn.

Sulvester suffered minor injuries and two of his passengers, Willie Hall, 59, of Clarkton and Margaret Thomas, 46, of Lilbourn received serious injuries. Mrs. Cole has minor injuries. All were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Katie Hawkins, 22, of East Prairie, was injured at 2:40 a.m. today on Route 80, four miles east of Matthews.

The accident occurred when Miss Hawkins' car hit a small rise in the road and ran off the wet pavement and into a ditch.

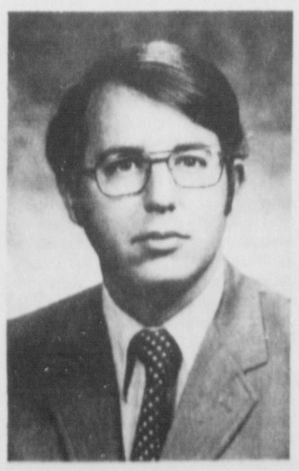
She was taken to a doctors office in East Prairie for treatment.

Theft suspect jailed

CHARLESTON — Lee Childress, 51, of Diehlstadt is being held in Mississippi county jail in connection with the theft of a pickup truck, according to Deputy Sheriff Robert Smith.

The truck, owned by H. L. "Gus" Heckman of Charleston, was reported stolen from West Commercial Street about 4:30 p.m. Thursday. It was recovered about one hour later in the yard of the John Harris home near Snow's Corner near Highway 60.

Smith said Childress who appeared intoxicated, was asleep in the truck when it was found. Wyatt Town Marshall John Pearson received a call from an unidentified person that the truck was in the yard and the sheriff's department was alerted.



Alfred Sikes

Sikes will head expanded department

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Alfred Sikes, former campaign manager for Gov. Christopher S. Bond and head of the state Department of Community Affairs, today became the first department director to be named under government reorganization taking effect July 1.

Sikes, 34, will become director of the new and expanded Department of Consumer Affairs, regulation and licensing. Bond will name 13 other department directors to comply with reorganization.

"Al Sikes has served the state well as head of the Department of Community Affairs," Bond said. "His experience in the planning and development areas will contribute to handling similar tasks in the consumer affairs, regulation and licensing department.

"In addition, Al Sikes' experience in the attorney general's office as an assistant attorney general serving several regulatory agencies...have given him a solid foundation to deal with regulatory questions."

Sikes served as campaign manager for Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth in the 1970 senatorial race and for Bond in the 1972 governor's campaign.

Sikes received his bachelor's degree in 1961 from Westminster College in Fulton and his law degree in 1964 from the University of Missouri-Columbia.

He was the 1969-70 president of the Missouri Jaycees; vice president of the National Jaycees in 1970-71; Junior Chamber international legal counsel in 1971-72; and now is a member of the Jaycee International long-range planning committee.

From 1964-68 he was in private practice with the law firm of Allen, Wooley, and Fisher of Springfield. He served as assistant attorney general under Danforth from 1969-71.

THE TWO-PARTY SYSTEM

Next to President Nixon and Energy Chief William Simon, the toughest job in America surely must belong to David K. Wilson.

David K. Wilson? He's chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee. In the face of Watergate and the massive citizen distrust of public officials that it has helped foster, Wilson is responsible for filling depleted GOP coffers.

The portents for his success, to say the least, are not good. According to a recent Louis Harris poll the Republican Party, already far smaller than the Democratic Party, declined by another seven per cent during the past five years. And, in what was considered by many to be a bellwether election, the GOP, in February lost control of Vice President Jerry Ford's old congresslaional seat in Michigan for the first time since 1910.

Too many Americans, we fear, are willing to let the entire Republican Party stew in the juices of Watergate, irrespective of the fact that it was only a handful of White House zealots whose actions brought about this national disgrace.

Does the country as a whole have a stake in the preservation of a strong two- party system of government? We believe that it does.

One only has to look at the political troubles currently facing Britain and Israel to realize the enormous difficulty of governing a modern nation when many political parties vie effectively for control.

The strong two-party system has been essential to the stability of America's government. It has succeeded in offering voters a viable alternative to the policies of incumbent administration and ruling majorities of Congress. At the same time, during national emergencies, the system has made it possible for a President to govern effectively, while reducing the risk that a demagogue would arise and seize political control.

Regardless of what one thinks about either of the nation's two major political parties, all of us have a stake in assuring that both of them remain alive and healthy.

WELL, NOTHING IS FOREVER

Couples heading for the altar these days might well ponder the admonition of Satchel Paige: "Never look behind you; something might be gaining on you." Or words to that effect.

There were more marriages last year than the year before, but also more divorces, and the divorce rate is steadily gaining on the marriage rate.

Figures from the National Center for Health Statistics show that for the first nine months of 1973, the ratio of divorces to marriages was 1 to 2.56 while the previous year, it was one divorce to each 2.74 marriages.

The bonds of matrimony are now tied with a slipknot. This year, an estimated 3.8 million Americans will marry, 2.3 million will file for divorce and another four million will separate.

It's reached the point where there is even a new magazine out called "Marriage & Divorce," which would seem to have something for everyone. The magazine costs $1.25. For another dime, you can get a dozen theories as to the causes of this social phenomenon.

According to a West German pyshiatrist, weekends are the biggest threat to marriage. "Married couples get bored with each other on weekends," says Dr. Helmut Sopp, as quoted in the National Enquirer. "During the week, couples are separated. On weekends they realize how little they have in common."

Sopp's suggestions to couples for a more harmonious weekend start out with staying in bed late and having a big breakfast together. The men shouldn't shave and the women should forget about housework as they should try to find out if they have any mutual interests and get involved in doing something together.

The way things are going, anything worth's a try.

"POLITICAL" KIDNAPPING

It is common practice nowadays for kidnappers to brand their crimes as "political." One of the more sordid ones is the abduction of Patricia Hearst, daughter of the distinguished West Coast publisher, William A. Hearst. At the heart of the matter is extortion and that is a crime. It matters little that the kidnappers have demanded nothing-- so far-- for themselves. Miss Hearst's abductors are hardened, vicious criminals who, it is hoped here, will be brought swiftly to sure justice. It is only human and right that the police and FBI agents tread slowly until the victim is freed.

Abduction and extortion are among the more heinous of criminal acts. The enactment of a federal statute against kidnapping in the wake of the famous Lindberg case in the 1930s had a braking effect on abductions. The kidnapper did not go out of business altogether, however.

A revival of tough capital punishment laws would do more to break the back of the kidnapping racket than any other step. The FBI and the police have the machinery and the know- how to solve kidnap cases, but they do not punish. The severity of punishment meted out by the courts alone can be the great deterrent. Hopefully, Miss Hearst will be found alive and well. That will be the signal for police action. The signal for capital punishment has been with us for quite some time.

Radicals of the far left are prone these days to call the arrest and imprisonment of criminals a political act of the state. This is for propaganda purposes but it is a technique that will fool no thinking person. The state has a legal mandate to protect society against the criminal element, no matter how that element describes its acts. HLH

NICE, BUT NOT NECESSARY

With gasoline scarcities, less gallonage tax, and therefore dwindling revenues for the Missouri State Highway Department, many people take a dim view of a measure introduced at Jefferson City by the State Representative from Elsberry.

It would require the department to paint a yellow center stripe on 10,841 miles of blacktopped roads now unmarked.

Everyone admits it would be nice, and an added safety factor, but they also admit it would be an extremely costly extra expense, when that money is needed and will be needed for more vital roads and road improvements.

A good many people believe that anyone that is able to drive should be able to stay on their own side of the road without stripes, and that if they can't, they shouldn't be driving anyway.

Over the last few decades, special interest groups have focused on Washington to turn the legislative process into a kind of "feed trough" for the greedy. Each year, management and efficiency experts express astonishment and indignation over the proliferation of wasteful federal research, experimental and grant-in-aid programs, but nothing ever happens to stem the tide. Not with Congress able to create program after program on behalf of lobby after lobby.

Finally, after long last, there is faint cause for hope. Both the House and Senate are considering legislation that would reform the congressional programming and budgeting mechanism to terminate this outrage on the taxpayers. The bill in question is S 40, principally sponsored by Sen. William E. Brock (R.-Tenn.) and Rep. Charles Bennett (D.-Fla.).

As good government proposals go, the Brock-Bennett bill is a rare jewel. Every legislative paragraph reflects basic common sense. Let us single out five major intentions.

First the bill would oblige Congress to set up a joint committee to hammer out an annual legislative budget before passing any appropriations bills. Subsequent appropriations exceeding that budget would have to contain an explanation and justification.

Second, the proposal provides that spending bills reported out of congressional committees must contain a statement of five- year projected costs and a list of existing or proposed programs with similar objectives.

Next, Title III specifies that federal expenditure authorizations must expire no more than three years after date of enactment, and no extension can be made without a comprehensive review and analysis of the program by the appropriate congressional committee.

Part Four of the Brock-Bennett bill is long overdue: It provides that Congress cannot consider new major expenditure programs unless these schemes have been pilot-tested according to strict guidelines.

Part Five provides that all appropriations (with few minor exceptions) must be made on an annual basis.

So far, the provisions of S 40 have been approved by the Senate Government Operations Committee, and floor debate is expected soon. Consideration by the House of Representatives is less advanced. Pressure for passage is building, but the future of S 40 remains cloudy.

Few pieces of legislation genuinely qualify for the title "revolutionary" but this one does. Its five principal provisions would strike a real blow at the alliance between Washington's special - interest groups and the legislative process.

Powerful lobby groups would lose their present ability to steamroller program after program into law by plying committee chairmen and key legislators with special gifts, fat speechmaking honoraria and fatter campaign contributions. People who think Washington collusions with vested interests is a monopoly of the Republican White House haven't spent enough time researching the Democrats who run the 200- odd committees and subcommittees of the House and Senate.

If government is to be made responsive to the people, reform on Capitol Hill too, must be achieved -- and passage of S 40 would be solid evidence of congressional sincerity.

BIKE LIGHT CIRCLES WILL ALERT MOTORISTS

The after- dusk bike rider can now alert approaching vehicles with a new bicycle tire that "lights up" at night.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio is producing reflective sidewall tires which can be seen clearly up to 500 yards away. They are expected to make cycling safer for the nation's 85 million bike riders.

"Those two big bright circles tell the driver immediately it's a bicycle," said Herman F. McDaniel general manager. "There is absolutely no doubt when the headlight beams hit the sidewall tire."

IT REALLY WORKS!

Our competitive business system has a major virtue for which it is seldom given credit. By its nature, it has no choice but to comply to the best of its ability with consumer demands and wishes. The company meeting these demands and wishes most successfully, is as a rule, assured a bright future. It is the way the marketplace works.

The wave of criticism that corporations have received for allegedly paying too little attention to the needs of consumers in recent years is getting results far beyond those that could be attained by simply writing laws. A 445- page report on some of the most significant steps taken by various firms to meet consumer complaints is revealing. In the field of product safety, attention has been given to food containers by a number of companies. One has developed a vacuum button that safeguards the seal on baby-food jars. Another has introduced a can lid that partially eliminates the hazard of raw-edged lids on cans. It is working to eliminate the hazard completely. On environmental protection, the report tells how a large metal concern has 500 collection points around the U. S. that accept aluminum scrap for recycling. The company pays 10 cents a pound for cans or other clean household scrap items. A paper company grows seeds and distributes them to independent tree farmers. A soap firm commits 2 cents from the sale of each of its 10 leading detergents sold in the State of Wisconsin to the University of Wisconsin extension program for study of water - pollution controls.

The list of things industry is doing in response to consumer criticism covers a multitude of activities from mark information systems to legal aid for the needy. Call it public relations or what you will, businesses and industry have no choice but to try to please the consumer. That is how they stay alive, and they know it. If consumers are smart, they will realize that this is a virtue of American enterprise and our economic system that cannot be taken lightly. It is the secret of our abundance and our well-being.

A NATIONAL INSTITUTION

Whenever a retail establishment discontinues the giving of trading stamps and turns to some other form of promotion in an effort to attact business, some news writers have fallen into the odd habit of referring to trading stamps as going out of style or they stir up nostalgic furor over the end of an "era". Frequently, they have to eat their words within a short time as other merchants start giving stamps.

A feature in the New York Financial World rhetorically asks the question: "Are trading stamps going out of style?" and answers its own query with a penetrating look at the trading stamp business. It found that, "Trading stamps have a basis appeal that has always been irresistible for most people ..." It backed up this conclusion with impressive statistics. Currently some 50 million American households out of an estimated 64 million save trading stamps. Currently some 50 million American households out of an estimated 64 million save trading stamps. More than 55 million women (78 per cent of the nation's 71 million) personally save stamps or redeem them. More than 46 million men (73 per cent of the nation's 63.5 million) either save stamps or contribute them to someone else in the household who does.

Financial World concludes: "As a result of deeply rooted psychological factors, trading stamps continue to flourish as incentives for both the customers and the sales people." They are a basic element of the structure of promotion and advertising that is literally the foundation of our mass production, mass distribution economy. When any form of promotion is acceptable to 50 million out of 64 million American households, it can only be defined as a national institution that is unlikely to go "out of style" anytime soon.

STRAIGHT LOOK AT ENERGY

At the conclusion of a four- day conference in Lake Arrowhead, California, where 80 representatives from universities, industry and government met for the purpose of developing recommendations on how to keep the U. S. from becoming a have- not nation in material resources, certain findings were released which are highly significant.

Speakers at the conference "... concurred that the crunch in meeting U. S. power and energy needs will come in the next 30 years, but after the year 2000 the outlook will brighten with the full harnessing of solar and thermonuclear fusion power... In another matter, a UCLA (University of California, at Los Angeles) team released results of its study comparing the risk factors in routine operation of oil- fired and nuclear power plants in an urban setting ... nuclear plants averaged one tenth the risk of oil- fired plants."

If ever there were a testimonial to the fact that the only certain answer to today's energy problem lies in a coherent national energy policy, in continued research in the field of new energy sources and in the steady advancement of nuclear power plants, this is it. One of the first moves of a coherent national energy policy should be the fostering of nationwide recognition of the honored roles science and technology must be permitted to play in meeting tomorrow's energy needs.

NO STATE TAX RETURNS PROCESSED YET

JEFFERSCON CITY — A continuing delay in efforts to reprogram state Revenue Department computers to handle new income tax forms has resulted in no 1973 tax returns being processed this year.

The normal processing period has been delayed a week so far and the delay will continue until the computer reprogramming is finished, according to A. Gerald Reiss, associate director of taxes for the Revenue Department.

The delay will continue as long as another three weeks, meaning the first refunds will not be available until about March 7, said Richard B. Clement, associate director for departmental services.

Revenue Department officials had expected to complete the reprogramming job by Jan. 1.

Tax returns normally are not processed through the computer until Feb. 1, he explained.

Approximately 65,000 personal and corporate returns — roughly 3 per cent of the annual total — had been received through Feb. 8, Reiss said. No refunds or other computer - related work have begun.

"This is the product of an out of-date computer here," he complained.

"It's difficult to change, but we'll make up for some of the time lost."

Other processing work is being done until the computer foulup is straightened out, he said.

The computer is used to check the contents of each return for accuracy.

"Everything is ready to be processed through the computer as soon as it turns on," Reiss explained.

The average period of processing for returns mailed early in the year is about five weeks, while those mailed in later take from six to eight weeks to handle, he said.

The delay means those persons waiting refunds will have to wait longer. And those who paid taxes don't have to worry — their checks have already been cashed by the Revenue Department.

"The change is not quite done yet and we just have to wait until it is," Reiss said.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Nixon Raids Justice For More Legal Aid

WASHINGTON-- The White House is raiding the Justice Department for more lawyers to bail President Nixon out of his Watergate troubles.

Although platoons of attorneys are already working on the President's problems with taxes, impeachment, the Senate Watergate committee and the Special Prosecutor, our sources say the White House has asked for "at least a dozen" lawyers from Justice.

These lawyers, of course, are being pulled off important cases at Justice to assist the President at the expense of the taxpayers. Some top Justice officials are giving the White House names of prospects, but there is also an undercurrent of resistance to the presidential dragooning.

For example, Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen, whose criminal division handled the early Watergate investigation, has been privately hinting to aides that they would be wise to turn down the White House.

From bitter experience, Petersen knows that getting too close to President Nixon can mean political burns. At Nixon's request, he postponed acting on crucial Watergate information, and took a public roasting for it.

Petersen is also worried, say insiders, about possible conflicts of interest. Justice lawyers themselves have confided to us that they are leery of taking the jobs at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue not just out of personal distaste, but because of ethical conflicts. One young antitrust lawyer sent for a job interview with Nixon attorney James St. Clair had worked on the milk fund case while at Justice.

Other lawyers fear they will be doing "clerk and jerk" jobs at the White House, reviewing other lawyers' work and "jerking" files and books from law libraries.

The White House's difficulty in wooing young Justice lawyers was obliquely conceded by St. Clair in a telephone interview with my associate Bob Owens.

St. Clair said he is "in the process" of hiring two or three attorneys from Justice. But the talent search has been going on for weeks, ample time to snare more than two or three attorneys if career lawyers were volunteering.

When Owens asked St. Clair who was going to pay the Justice attorneys, the shrewd Bostonian dodged. "I work at a disadvantage because I don't understand the bureaucracy," he said. The payroll, he added, was being left to "smarter people."

At Justice, a spokesman said when the loaned lawyers leave the department, they will also go off the department payroll. This would put them into the White House budget.

PLUMBERS' FRIEND: A Senate committee has charged that Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger has set up his own "plumbers unit" in flagrant violation of congressional orders. HEW insists it's all a $600,000 misunderstanding.

The facts are disclosed in private correspondence between Senate HEW Appropriations subcommittee chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., and Weinberger's undersecretary, Frank Carlucci.

HEW, the documents show, has long wanted its own gumshoes to probe internal fraud, contract cheats, falsified payrolls and conflicts of interest in the vast jerry- built bureaucracy. But HEW employes have feared this would mean a Big Brother operation.

Last August, as the Office of Economic Opportunity fell to pieces under the Administration ax, HEW moved to grab the best of the OEO investigators.

One of those they passed over, despite his eagerness for the top HEW security post, was John "Fat Jack" Buckley who, Watergate sleuths revealed, had planted a Nixon spy in Sen. Edmund Muskie's presidential campaign. Buckley was on the federal payroll at the time.

Though Buckley's zeal went unrewarded, some 22 persons were hired, mostly from OEO. Plans were made to take on eight others. None of the workers had the approval of Magnuson, who controls HEW's purse strings.

In October, the Magnuson subcommittee specifically deleted funds for all the added investigators, saying HEW's original 17- man security staff was all that was needed. Crimes at HEW could be handled by the FBI and other federal cops, as in the past, the committee reasoned.

But Carlucci went ahead with the plans anyway and, according to a confidential report he sent to Magnuson on February 7, conceded he had begun to "reprogram 30 positions (for) an Internal Investigation staff" at a cost of $600,000.

When Magnuson got word of it, he fancied White House-style snoopers under every HEW employe's bed. The unauthorized gumshoes, he told Carlucci on February 26, constitute "a so- called 'plumbers' unit at HEW....

"We are absolutely at a loss to understand how (HEW) could proceed," snorted Magnuson. "This action to subvert the intent of Congress cannot go unchallenged."

Magnuson ordered HEW to get rid of the new squad except for eight sleuths which he said HEW could keep "to show...we are not unreasonable."

At HEW, Nathan Dick, the veteran HEW security man who heads the investigators, told us emphatically his division "is in no way a plumbers unit." His mandate, he said, is not to snoop on HEW employes, but to weed out malefactors among HEW workers and contractors.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Making of a President?
Jerry Ford- Henry Kissinger Would Make a Good Team, Says Meany

WASHINGTON-- That All-American college star isn't streaking past the powerful American labor movement. It has him in full political view. It likes what it sees. And it would like to see him President of the U. S. playing musical chairs with Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President.

Rarely has any conservative been so gently treated by labor leaders skilled at going for the jugular as is the Vice President. When Ford criticizes them, they turn the other cheek. He is called "conservative but honest...square but solid...constructive.. a man we can live with."

He isn't even denounced as an enemy of the people after associating beyond Meany's pale with Labor Secretary Peter Brennan.

Jerry Ford wasn't even denounced after his famous Atlantic City speech some weeks ago when he excoriated labor as extremists attempting to veto the national election. Labor's national headquarters simply asked for a copy of the speech, had to wait until Ford's staff got one from the White House where it was written by communications director Ken Clawson-- and then they attributed it to a lateral pass from former presidential counselor Chuck Colson to Clawson.

It's a rare moment, for example, in contemporary political literature that AFL-CIO chief George Meany is gentle with anyone but gin players and golfers who lose to him. Yet recently he said, "I think the Michigan (congressional) election makes Jerry Ford look more and more important all the time. And frankly, I think a lot of our troubles could be approached in a much more constructive way with Jerry Ford as President of the U. S. than with Richard Nixon. At least Jerry Ford would have credibility."

"He could gather people around him that could run this country and I think Henry Kissinger would be just as good a Secretary of State as they say he is and I think he certainly has talents that he has displayed...I think he would be just as good a Secretary of State under Jerry Ford as President as he is under Richard Nixon."

Later, Meany asserted: "He is very conservative and personally a very nice gentleman. I like him as an individual but it is quite obvious that the labor and liberal forces..opposed Jerry Ford every time he ran."

And still later Meany averred the campaign in the Grand Rapids congressional district wasn't a referendum on Jerry Ford but on Richard Nixon.

Meany- watchers know that what Meany says, Meany means. And he doesn't say it gently frequently. And none of his words lose significance because they're said at a seemingly inconsequential moment.

Few now recall that it was in August 1970- fully two years before the Democratic nominating convention- that Meany accused the party of being in shambles and in the hands of radicals. And then warned that it couldn't take the support of labor for granted.

To insiders, Meany's description of Jerry Ford these days indicates that labor's war with the White House would end should Ford become President

Says one of his top aides referring to the Vice President's congressional years: "Ford's labor record in our book is 109 wrong and 7 right. But what we would find in the White House is an honest man, not an ideological friend."

Jerry Ford is aware of his reputation inside labor. He has worked closely with the Seafarers chief Paul Hall He has spoken at AFL- CIO Maritime Trades Dept. luncheons and sailors conventions. He has been on the House Public Works Committee. During all this time, however, he has reflected his constituency-- a very conservative one.

Now he's gone public. He can't even ski without a gliding flotilla of Secret Service agents and newsmen. His constituency is national. It has a center. He's gyrating towards it. He's no longer taking advice or speeches or tactical homilies from old- line White House staffers.

He has, for example, hired a new speechwriter-- right out of the most intellectual of left-wing Republicanism. The new ghost is the 50- year- old Virginia- born Milton Friedman. He's been with Sen. Jack Javits. He's written for the Nation which is left of center. He's a specialist on racial and social issues. He has the traditional militant intellectual positions on Vietnam and Dick Nixon.

Obviously Jerry Ford is moving towards the center. Obviously Jerry Ford plans to do more than tell audiences it's nice being with you. Obviously Jerry Ford doesn't plan to hack away at Meany in the old John Connally and Chuck Colson tradition.

All these are mighty big straws in a strong political wind. All this gives both Jerry Ford and the bulk of American labor many options and weapons.

Obviously these are chapter heads, not footnotes, in the making of a President, 1976.

Sentence stayed for Bertrand man

CHARLESTON — David Pounds of Bertrand received a 10- day jail sentence Thursday following his appearance before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr. on a disturbing the peace charge. Pounds was given credit for time served in jail since his arrest March 7 and Judge Brown later stayed the balance of his sentence and ordered Pounds released from custody.

Attorneys were appointed to represent Phaveron Wilkins and Ray Jackson of Charleston on charges of tampering with a motor vehicle by removing an AM-FM radio stereo unit on March 9 from an automobile owned by Walter Raymond Smoot of Charleston. Bonds for the two men were set at $1,000 each and the cases were continued to March 21.

April 18 was set as the trial date for Trent Douglas Reynolds of Wyatt on charges of supplying alcoholic beverage to a minor and possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana. Reynolds is free on $500 bonds, posted on each count.

April 18 was also scheduled as trial date for Kenneth Wayne Farrell of Charleston on charges of supplying liquor to a minor and possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana. He is free on his own recognizance.

Randy Haney of Charleston entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of supplying intoxicating liquor (beer) to a minor and his case was continued to April 11.

A felony charge of issuing a fraudulent check against Kathey Organ of East Prairie was continued to March 21 to allow her time to employ an attorney. Mrs. Organ, who is free on $500 bond, is accused of writing a $40 check on Dec. 24, 1973 to the P. N. Hirsch store.

Misdemeanor charges and fines included: Lanny Marshall Lee of Charleston, driving while intoxicated, $116; Jerry C. Beasley of Bertrand, expired truck license, $21; Robert King of Charleston, operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license, $26; Hugh Ernest Ray of East Prairie, careless and imprudent driving by failure to yield right of way, $31; John Lee Groves Jr. of Wyatt, failure to observe traffic control signs and expired truck license, $26; and James Edward Ashley of Parma, failure to observe traffic control signs, $21;

A non- support charge against Ernest Ray Walker of Charleston was continued to March 28. Also continued to March 28 was a common assault charge against Irene Bailey of Charleston and a charge of leaving the scene of an accident against James Raymond Wheatley.

Charges of driving with expired license plates and driving with expired trailer plates against Jimmy Dale Heath of East Prairie were continued to March 21 and a non- support charge against Larry Houston was continued to April 4.

Appearing before Judge Brown earlier this week were: Frank Leroy Tatum, Mo. resident, out of state operator's license, $21; Joseph Edward Burk Jr., speeding, $29; and Homer Terrel Barger, no operator's license and failure to register, $31.

Coleman gets 10 years for robbery

CHARLESTON — Howard Coleman of Tarpon Springs, Fla., formerly of Blytheville, Ark., was formally sentenced Wednesday to 10 years in the State Department of Correction by Circuit Judge Marshall Craig.

Coleman was found guilty of first degree robbery in a jury trial Jan. 21 in a change of venue case from Pemiscot County heard before Judge Craig. The jury, which recommended a 10- year jail sentence for Coleman, found him not guilty of first degree murder in connection with the April 5, 1973 slaying of Robert Wayne Fisk.

Fisk, who was an attendant at the Holland Raceway Service Station, was shot in the head with a .30-30 rifle during the robbery of the station in which $129.84 was taken.

Judge Craig denied probation and gave Coleman credit for 329 days spent in jail following his arrest.

In a personal injuries and damages suit brought by Kimberly D. Webb, by her next friend Harry Webb and Harry Webb individually, judgment on five counts was awarded in the amount of $14,425 against Emory Noah.

The suit against Noah stemmed from an automobile accident April 7, 1973 on Route 60, west of the intersection of Route J in Mississippi County, when Noah's car crossed over the center line and struck a car driven by Harry Webb, in which his daughter, Kimberley was a passenger.

Decrees of dissolutions of marriages were granted in four cases Clentine Neal from William Junior Neal, with custody of one minor child being awarded to Mrs. Neal, along with $25 per week child support and attorney's fee of $250 plus court costs.

Betty Ann Medley from Robert Franklin Medley; Roy Miles Howlett from Theresa Howlett; and William Eugene Housman from Darla Housman, with custody of one child awarded to Mrs. Housman.

In a uniform support suit Robert Gene Scott Jr. was ordered to pay $20 per week to Leola Scott for the support of minor children.

21 accident patients treated

Twenty- one accident patients were treated Thursday in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Treated were: Russell Jones, 23, New Madrid, scratched and sprained right wrist, left elbow and knee at work; Austin Criglar Jr., 27, Malden, bruises and scratches in car accident; Sylvester Anderson, 33, Malden, injured head in car accident; Willie Hall, 59, Clarkton, bruised forehead and right arm in car accident.

Margaret Thomas, 47, Sikeston, fractured right wrist and scratched head in car accident; Lillie Cole, 67, Lilbourn, fractured left leg, multiple bruises and scratches in car accident; Daniel Sanders, 10, Sikeston, bruised back in fall off bicycle.

The Lair Music Store, located on Malone avenue, just south of the Missouri Pacific Station, is open and ready for business. A splendid line of pianos, Edison and Columbia Victrola, records, and other things usually carried in a first-class music store.

Soon after noon Wednesday, a Frisco freight train going south, jumped the track at the crossing on the Salcedo road about one mile north of Sikeston, tearing up quite a stretch of track and wrecking half dozen cars, one of which was loaded with potatoes.

Milton Blanton is on duty at the distributing window at the postoffice. He takes the place of Miss Mildred Bowman, who leaves this afternoon for a visit in Colorado.

Miss Agatha Dawson of New Madrid died Sunday at St. Mary's Infirmary in Cairo, after undergoing a serious operation.

Once again the Missouri Delta Community Hospital, built in 1949, stands out as a fully- accredited hospital-- this year by the action of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, a group that has just issued its first list of fully accredited hospitals in the United States and elsewhere.

Daniel O'Bryan, 72, of Charleston, retired attorney and farmer and former member of the state legislature from Mississippi County, died in the Delta Community Hospital this morning after a week's illness.

East Prairie-- Charles Lloyd Bloomburg, 17, died at his home near East Prairie Saturday and funeral services were conducted this afternoon.

Kathy Jo Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold, whose fifth birthday was Sunday, celebrated Saturday with a party given at the home of her parents.

Bill Scobie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Scobie, was awarded first place in the instrumental division of a music contest sponsored by the Ninth District, Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, and held in Cape Girardeau on Saturday. Other winners were: Rose Marie Cooper of Charleston, piano; and Janet Sue Burke, also of Charleston, vocal.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Morehouse are parents of a daughter born Saturday at the local hospital.

A son was born Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. Wilma Bonner.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Beatty are parents of a son born Sunday.

Columbia-- The Morehouse Tigers saw their 39- game winning streak and a chance at the Class B state cage title shattered here in Brewer Field house Saturday in a sudden death overtime when the Sparta Trojans, on a field goal by Don Gideon, nipped them, 58- 56, in the tourney finals. The all- tourney selections found Morehouse placing Doyle Denbow and William Gray on the first five. Larry Chapman of Morehouse made the second five and Norm Vickers made honorable mention. Denbow was also an all- tourney selection last year at Cape.

Ann Landers

Relatives should take time to visit each other

Dear Ann Landers: I just returned from a 3,000- mile car trip. My father's younger brother died. He was only 53. His death was sudden and unexpected.

My father went to pieces during the service and wept uncontrollably beside the casket. He had to be physically removed from the cemetery. Of course, he was deeply grieved, but what was really bothering him was guilt. For years he kept saying he didn't have the time or money to go see his brother. Now, when it's too late, he found both the time and the money. I have never seen anyone so broken up as my father was at that funeral.

Please, Ann, print this letter for the millions of people who think they can't spare the time or money to go see someone they love. Let them answer this question: If you received a phone call with some terrible news, you'd go, wouldn't you? Well, why not go now, when you can enjoy one another? It's always later than you think.-- Sad Daughter

Dear Daughter: There's an old Yiddish expression, a promise to friends and relatives: 'We will get together at simches," which means happy occasions. They know only too well that they will get together when tragedy strikes. Thank you for a provacative letter.

Dear Ann Landers: I let my boyfriend move in with me because I thought I was pregnant and felt sure he would marry me. It turned out that I was not pregnant and he is still here, and I am still paying the rent, the phone bill, and buying the groceries.

I work long hours at a job and I haven't the time or energy to go out during the week. I need every bit of strength to do the marketing, housework and laundry. On weekends I would enjoy an evening of diversion, if only a movie, but my boyfriend always has someplace to go that doesn't include me. He is hardly ever at home except to eat and sleep.

Last week I got fed up and told him to get out. He broke down and cried. I couldn't stand it. What should I do, Ann? I'm sure he is cheating on me but I am afraid to be alone.-- Miserable Mary

Dear Mary: Get with it, kiddo. You ARE alone. I see no evidence whatever of companionship. That freeloader is getting room and board and laundry and you are getting used. Tell him he has 24 hours to clear out. If he cries, give him a box of paper towels and wish him luck.

Every time I read a letter like yours I say to myself, "That poor dame knows what she ought to do. She just needs someone to tell her to do it." So, I'm telling you.

Dear Ann Landers: The guy who said he wanted a "watch pig" instead of a watchdog because he had heard that pigs were smarter than dogs, had to be putting you on. I'm surprised you fell for it.

I live in a high- risk break-in area and we've all been told that the best protection against prowlers is a barking dog.

What did the guy think his smart pig would do if he heard a burglar? Pick up the phone and call the police? If I were a prowler and heard a pig oinking I'd break in for sure. And I'd forget the silver. Pork chops are more valuable.-- Ol' McDonnell

Dear O: An oinking pig might shake up a housebreaker more than a barking dog. What worries me is, how do you housebreak a pig?

A no- nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers's booklet, "Marriage-- What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654, enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope.

Caring for your new baby

Temperament shows how baby reacts to parents and objects

VII. After the First Weeks— Part 1

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to describe some of the things about normal babies that commonly worry parents-- telling what to do or not to do about them. The articles should answer many questions about what to expect of a new baby and give simple instructions about solving the problems most parents face during their baby's first year of life. This section of the series (eight articles in all) concerns development of the child after the first few weeks when he is visibly growing every day, developing a few rudimentary language skills and becoming more mobile).

Temperament— Part I

Babies differ from each other in many ways. They may be big or small, fast growing or slow growing, early developers or late developers, brown- eyed or blue- eyed. One of the most important ways in which babies differ is in their temperament-- the usual way they react to you, to other people and to things around them.

You will find it much easier to understand your baby, to take care of him, to teach him and to enjoy him if you pay attention to his temperament.

There are at least nine ways in which young babies differ from each other in "temperamental characteristics." No one knows whether these characteristics or differences are inherited, whether they are formed when the baby is growing during pregnancy, or whether they develop in the first weeks of life.

In any case, they are present in the first months of life, and you will want to understand how they affect your child.

Activity level: How much does your baby move around? When you put him in bed, does he wiggle all over the crib or does he stay in the same place? When you change a diaper or put on a shirt, do you have trouble because he is constantly wiggling about or does he lie quietly and let you change him?

Normal babies may be very active or very inactive. Your job in caring for a very active baby will be very different from caring for a very inactive one.

If you believe that all babies should be active, you may be disappointed or frustrated by an inactive baby. If you think that all babies should stay still and lie quietly while being dressed or bathed, you may think that an active baby is bad or that he is active because you are not caring for him properly. Don't blame yourself or the baby. He is just made that way.

If your baby is super-active, you may just want to enjoy him. Or you may want to behave in a more soothing and gentle way so as to encourage him to slow down a little. With a very inactive baby, you may want to take more initiative in playing with him, moving him about and rewarding him for the activities which he does start on his own.

Regularity: How regular are your baby's habits? Does he always awaken at the same time, get hungry at the same time, take his nap at the same time, have his bottle at the same time? Does he vary by a small amount each day? Or is he completely unpredictable? Does he eat and drink about the same amount at his morning feeding each day?

If he is very regular, your job is usually quite easy. If he is very irregular, you will have to be prepared for daily changes! Or you may have to do more scheduling for him rather than sitting back and waiting for him to find a comfortable schedule of his own.

Of course, you can't feed him if he isn't hungry, or make him sleep if he isn't really tired. But you can feed him before he really cries in hunger and you can put him down for a quiet time or for sleep even though he isn't especially tired.

Adaptability: How long does it take him to get used to new situations or to changes? When you changed from sponge bathing to a bath, did he accept it immediately, or did it take six or seven tries before he really accepted it? If you offer him a new food or toy, does he take it promptly or does it take many trials before he will really eat it or play with it?

If he objects the first time you put a cap on his head, does he object every time you try it, or does he get used to it very quickly?

High or low "adaptability" is neither good nor bad. The child who resists change may take longer to teach. But, once taught, he won't change every time a slightly different situation comes along.

Coalesce ticket sales total $953

Ticket sales for the ninth annual Sikeston Coalesce Club fashion show and benefit card party held Monday night at Ramada Inn totaled $953, of which more than $800 will be used by the club for various community projects. The balance will pay for expenses incurred by the show and card party.

The grand prize of 30 books of redeemable stamps was won by Mrs. Kathy Mitchell of Sikeston.

Other door prize winners were: Sandy York, Janet Johnson, Judie Wren, Mildred Chartrau, Nancy Tidwell Margaret Taylor, Mary Marks, Nelda Hodge, Melissa Swan, Mrs. W. W. Fitzgerald, Lucille Schorle, Marie Jameson, Rosemary Herrick, Francis Willis, Mrs. William Z. Baker, Shirley Crites, Vivian Waters, Shirley Ainsworth Pat McDonald and Audrey Heffelfinger of Sikeston; Arbutus Sansagrau of Advance Mrs. Carl Lutz of Charleston; Katheryn Johnson of Portageville; and Anita Pfeffer of Lilbourn.

Co-chairmwomen of this year's event were Dee Statler and Jo Anne Ebersole.

Club will buy 'crown and pillow'

The Sikeston DeMolay Mothers Club met Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple to discuss membership dues and cards and ideas for money- making projects.

The club voted to buy the DeMolay chapter a crown and pillow which is needed in club work.

The club will meet March 26 to work on new altar cloths.

It was also announced that a family potluck dinner will be held April 9.

---Risco happenings--

RISCO — Mrs. Roland Byrd entertained at her home for the March luncheon meeting of the Risco Rural Independent Club.

After the covered dish noon meal Mrs. Tommy Pearson called the group to order for the business session by leading them in repetition of The Lord's Prayer.

Included in the main business of the day was the further discussion of a long-planned project concerning the erection of a community billboard for notices and announcement bulletins. The billboard will be donated for the use of anyone in the community and will reportedly be erected north of the post office.

The group voted to make a contribution to the Cancer Fund Drive, and the annual movie night and dinner were discussed, with the group agreeing to view the movie, "Super Dad."

The club had as its guest Mrs. Paul Junior Cummins, who presented an informative program on cake decorating.

Mrs. Cummins distributed copies of special decorating tips and cake- cutting guides and displayed a cake-decorating catalog which also offers instructions in the art.

An imaginatively-decorated leprechaun cake demonstrated the use of decorated cakes for special occasions and an assortment of photographs were displayed which included specialized birthday, anniversary and tiered wedding cakes.

Mrs Cummins and Mrs. Gene Lancaster presented a humorous skit, "The Meticulous Customer," and later the members participated in a house- plant exchange.

Others attending were Mrs. Jerry Pearson, Mrs. Gentry May, Mrs. Verly McCord, Mrs. Aubrey Ward, Mrs. Charles Downs, Mrs. G. H. Coffer, Mrs. Robert Dockrey, Mrs. Royce Fortner and a visitor, Mrs. Bill Fortner.

Mrs. Don Landers is hostess for the April 11 luncheon meeting.

Michael Landers celebrated his sixth birthday March 6 with a cowboy birthday party at his home.

Upon arrival each guest received his own neckerchief, brown paper vest, and a cowboy hat- brimmed balloon on which he drew his own cowboy face with watercolor markers. Other games included pin the tail on the donkey, magnetic darts and "rope the steer." Prizes were individual bags of jelly beans.

The party rooms were decorated with blue, white and yellow streamers. A blue bandana print covered the table, which held a "Freckles, the Cowboy" centerpiece, matching nutcups and the matching cowboy cake specially designed by Mrs. Paul Cummins Jr.

Red bandana placemats encircled a simulated campfire, around which the children were seated for refreshments of "spud chips'n sop, nut nuggets, cactus juice punch, western cake and cowboy ice cream cones. Placecard favors were small cowboys which held pipecleaner lassos spelling out each guest's name.

Mrs. Royce Fortner, Mrs. P. C. Crouthers and Mrs. Cummins assisted Mrs. Don Landers with the party preparations.

Children attending were Chuck and Paul Allen Cummins, Angela Portner, Kathy Jo Wheeler, Sherri and Jamie Eakens, Cheryl and Billy Fornter, Angela White, Glen Wilson, Amy and Mindy McGee, Susan and Christie Pearson, Wayne Cox and Brent Landers.

Other adults present were Mrs. Mike McGee, Mrs. James Eakens and Mrs. Bill Fortner.

The women of Tallapoosa Baptist Church observed the Week of Prayer for Home Missions Thursday evening with a book study, "Evangelism, the Cutting Edge", taught by Mrs. Gene Lancaster.

Others present were Mrs. W. M. Fortner, Mrs. Frankie Knapp, Mrs. Kenny Carlisle, Mrs. Lucy Meese and Mrs. Nancy Marlow.

It's tough to be a Duck

North American waterfowl, especially ducks, always are at the mercy of weather. Late spring snowstorms can destroy a nesting season for snow and Canada geese.

Drouth in the pothole areas of the Great Plains of the United States and Canada can seriously dent duck populations.

Aside from weather, and aside from the predictable mortality from waterfowl hunting, the birds face other perils as well. Prime among them are disease and poisoning.

Prime cause of poisoning is lead shot, scattered on the bottoms of feeding areas by hunters. It doesn't take many lead pellets eaten accidentally by a duck to kill it.

An estimated three million ducks and geese die annually in North America from eating lead shot. For several years, there has been an intensive effort to find a alternative to lead shot.

The most widely tried was soft steel shot. Drawbacks, according to critics, are that steel shot wears gun barrels faster than lead and the shot itself does not kill as effectively as lead. It also is more expensive--though that probably would be a temporary situation if the ammunition industry decided to produce steel shot in volume.

Missouri was one of a number of states cooperating in a steel- lead shot test in the 1973 season. Some hunters at Montrose Wildlife Area used steel shot, while others used lead. An observer was in the blind with each party.

Preliminary figures nationwide, as compiled by the Federal Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, indicate little difference between the two forms of shot. Hunters fired 2,082 loads of 1- 1/8 ounce steel shot and downed 443 ducks.

Hunters fired 2,088 loads of 1- 1/4 ounce lead shot and downed 458 ducks. In each case, there were 68 ducks unretrieved (15.3 per cent for steel shot, 14.8 for lead). The shots per duck downed and shots per duck retrieved were almost identical.

The Bureau tends to feel that it isn't true that steel shot would cripple more ducks than would be saved from poisoning by lead shot.

Another potential solution for lead poisoning is a shotgun pellet developed in Canada which is half lead, half iron. Jack Davis, Environment Minister for Canada, says the new shot is less toxic than lead shot and ballistically is as good.

According to the Department of the Interior, the mallard, most sought after duck in Missouri,

UCLA survives in 3 overtimes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The perils of the NCAA basketball playoffs continue Saturday with another episode after a cliff-hanging escape by UCLA and the end of the serial for Notre Dame.

Faced by sudden-death extinction, UCLA's proud defending champions put down stubborn Dayton 111-100 in triple overtime Thursday night in a pressurized West regional semifinal game.

Notre Dame wasn't so lucky, though. Michigan took the fight out of the Fighting Irish with a shocking 77-68 victory over the nation's second-ranked team.

Top-ranked North Carolina State, meanwhile, kept no one on the edge of his seat with an unsuspenseful, 92-78 rout of Providence in the East.

These results, among others, set up the regional finals.

UCLA will play San Francisco, which defeated New Mexico 64-61 in the less dramatic second game of that West doubleheader at Tucson, Ariz.

Michigan's stunning victory earned the Wolverines a berth in the Mideast finals against Marquette, a 69-61 victor over Vanderbilt in the other Mideast game at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

North Carolina State will play the East finals against Pittsburgh, which trimmed Furman 81-78 at Raleigh, N. C.

Oral Roberts and Kansas advanced to the finals of the Midwest. Oral Roberts defeated Louisville 96-93 and Kansas rallied for a 55-54 decision over Creighton in Thursday night's semifinals at Tulsa, Okla.

The best action of the night by far was the UCLA-Dayton game, an affair with all the elements of a movie thriller.

The Bruins, nine-time winners of the national championship in the last 10 years, were heavy favorites over the Flyers. And it looked like things were going to go that way, with UCLA holding a 17-point lead at one time.

But the Flyers rallied behind Mike Sylvester and Don Smith to tie the game at 80 at the end of regulation time. The score was also tied at the end of the first and second overtimes, at 88 and 98.

Then Bill Walton, UCLA's outstanding center, scored five points in the third overtime to pull it out. The Flyers couldn't run with the deep Bruins at this point and were only able to score two points to UCLA's 13 in the third extra period.

Howard Smith scored 16 points and Kevin Restani added 14 for San Francisco. The Dons grabbed the lead for good midway through the second half with eight straight points, four by Restani.

Campy Russell scored 36 points and collected 18 rebounds to trigger Michigan's upset of Notre Dame. Russell took charge of the rebounding early and Wayman Britt scored 12 points as the Wolverines bolted to a 28-8 lead over the stunned Irish.

Notre Dame later came back behind John Shumate, who scored 34 points overall, but buckled under Russell's bullseye shooting later in the second half.

Marquette put down a late rally by Vanderbilt, which had thrived on comeback victories all year. Two shots by Bo Ellis and one by Ed Daniels in a sixpoint streak with three minutes left killed the Commodores' comeback hopes.

David Thompson connected for 40 points to lead North Carolina State's big victory over Providence.

Bill Knight scored 34 points, 22 of them in the second half, to lead Pittsburgh past Furman. Lew Hill and Kirk Bruce added 12 points apiece to the Pitt offense.

Sam McCants fired in 30 points to lead Oral Roberts past Louisville. Trailing most of the game, Kansas rallied in the final four minutes behind Tommy Smith to defeat Creighton.

Four Southeast Missourians were among a troup catching over 800 pounds of King Mackerel off the Louisiana Coast recently. The King in the center weighed 68 pounds, three pounds shy of the Louisiana Gulf Coast record. Braves use DH

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National League has been conducting cautious experiments with the designated hitter rule this spring and the Atlanta Braves, for one, are pleased with the results.

The Braves nominated Jack Pierce as their DH Thursday against the New York Yankees and Pierce responded with three base hits in Atlanta's 3-2, 12-inning exhibition victory.

Pierce doubled and scored in the eighth inning and did the same thing in the 12th, bringing home the winning run on a single by John Oates. Mike Hegan drove in both New York runs with a single in the third.

The Braves were able to use a DH because the game was played at the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., home of the American League Yanks.

In other exhibition games, Baltimore routed Texas 12-3; Los Angeles blanked St. Louis 3-0; the Chicago White Sox shaded Philadelphia 6-5; Milwaukee dumped the Chicago Cubs 10-6; Boston defeated Houston 8-2; Pittsburgh trimmed Kansas City 7-1; the New York Mets edged Detroit 3-2; California stopped Cleveland 7-6; San Francisco beat San Diego 7-4; and Minnesota's split squad lost twice, bowing to Cincinnati 6-4 and Montreal 7-5.

Baltimore pounded Texas pitching for 18 base hits, three by Don Baylor. Jim Palmer pitched four scoreless innings for the Orioles.

Tommy John hurled five innings of no-hit ball for Los Angeles. Steve Garvey was the Dodger offensive star with two hits and two runs-batted-in.

Ken Henderson's three-run homer in the ninth inning lifted the White Sox past Philadelphia. Henderson's blow came off reliever Frank Linzy and capped a four-run Chicago rally.

Milwaukee collected 18 base hits, including a two-run homer by Ron Ellis and a three-run double by Don Money. Bill Madlock had three hits for Chicago to extend his hitting streak to seven games. He is hitting .630 this spring.

Reggie Cleveland hurled five scoreless innings and Carlton Fisk belted a pair of homers for Boston. The Red Sox have won six of seven games.

Dave Parker homered, singled and drove in three runs for Pittsburgh. Pirate hurlers Jerry Reuss, Bob Moose and Dave Guisti combined on a four-hitter.

Felix Millan's two-out single in the seventh gave the Mets the decisive run against Detroit. Rookie outfielder Benny Ayala homered for New York.

Denny Doyle doubled home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth in California's triumph. Catcher Charlie Sands had four hits for the Angels, including a three-run homer.

Jimmy Howarth's tie-breaking single in the ninth inning led San Francisco past San Diego. Dave Winfield had a two-run homer for the Padres and the teams finished with 15 hits apiece.

Ken Griffey keyed a four-run Cincinnati rally in the eighth with a two-run single against Minnesota. The Twins second team was dumped by Montreal's Terry Humphrey who drove in five runs with a pair of homers.

Curtis falters

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Perhaps it would help if St. Louis manager Red Schoendienst converted new Cardinal pitcher John Curtis into a long distance relief man.

It would certainly eliminate Curtis' recent problem of giving up a lot of runs in the opening inning.

In his two starts for the Redbirds, the ex-Boston lefthander has proved himself fairly effective once he's gotten warmed up.

The most recent example was a 3-0 exhibition loss to the Los Angeles Dodgers Thursday at Vero Beach.

Curtis surrendered two runs to the Dodgers in the first and that was all they needed, as L.A. pitchers Tommy John, Greg Shanahan and Charlie Hough stifled the Redbirds with just three hits.

The loss gave the Cards a split in the two-game series with the Dodgers, who fell to St. Louis, 6-4, Wednesday.

The Cardinals, now 3-3 in Graprfruit League play, were scheduled today to travel to Orlando for a game with the Minnesota Twins.

L.A.'s Steve Garvey did the most damage to the Redbirds, knocking in the two first-inning runs, then doubling and coming in on Bill Russell's single in the fourth. That marked the end of the road for Curtis and for the Cardinals.

The Dodgers' John mystified the Redbirds during his stint, allowing no hits and just two baserunners in five innings.

St. Louis' first hit didn't come until the sixth. Luis Melendez and Ted Simmons got a pair of singles in the seventh, but any hopes of a cardinal rally died when pinchhitter Tim McCarver struck out.

CALGARY — Eighth - seeded Ian Crookenden, of New Zealand, triumphed over Frantisk Pala, of Czechoslovakia, 7-6, 6-2 in a second- round singles match at the $25,000 Canadian Indoor Tennis Championships.

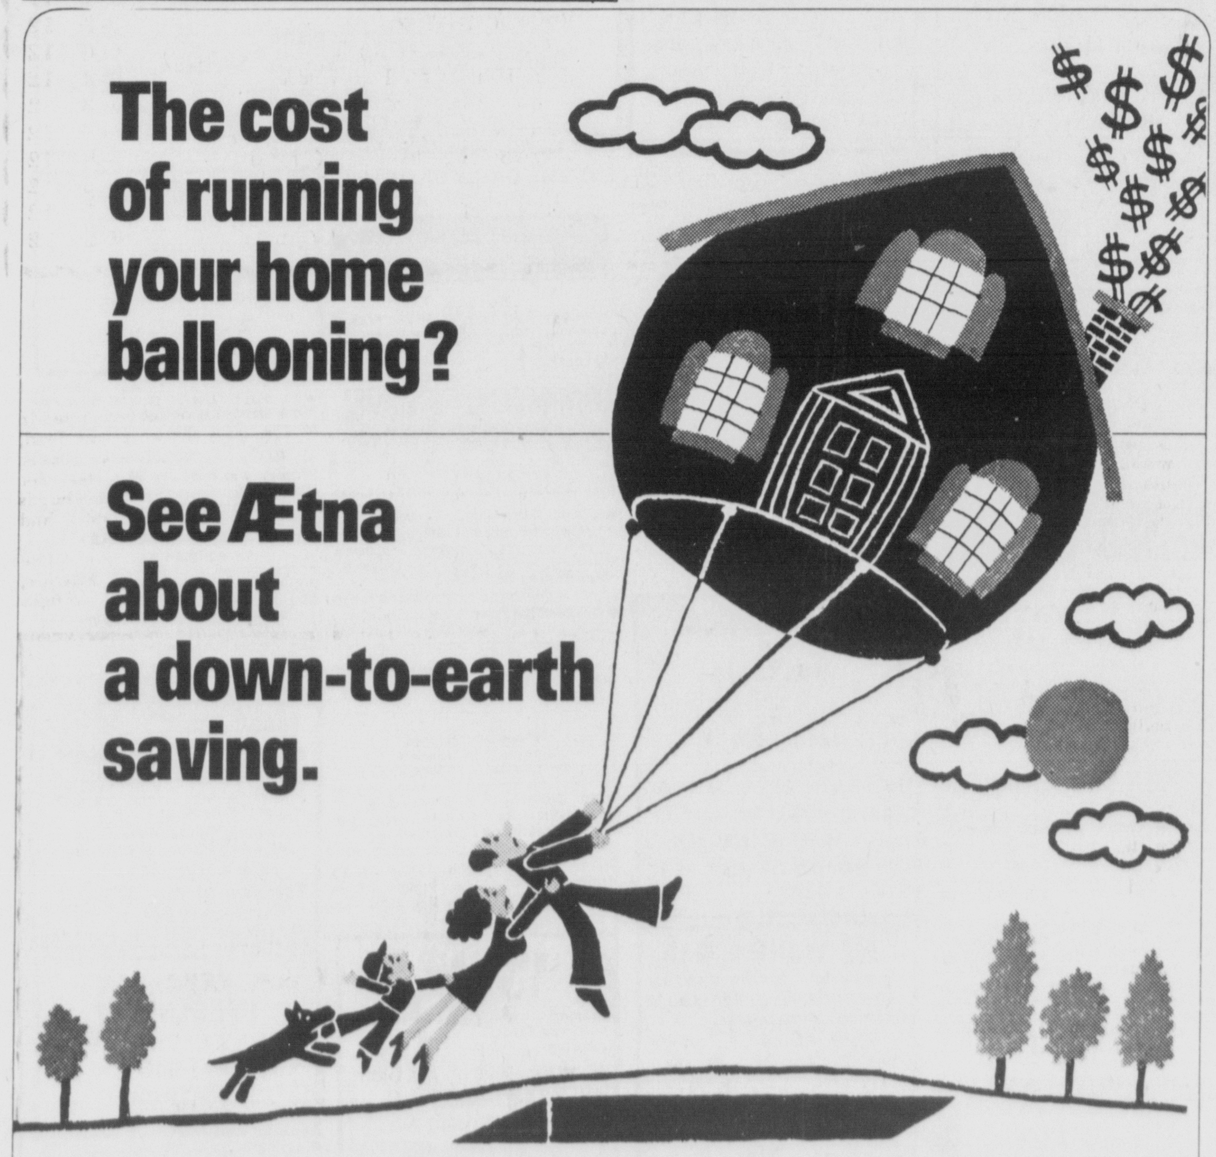
GOLF

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — John Maffey and Labron Harris matched 68s to tie for the first round lead in the $150,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

League meeting

As the basketball action dies down across the county, the baseball fever is steadily growing and on the local scene the Little League will have a meeting for all the coaches and managers Saturday afternoon at 1 p.m. at the Imperial Bowling Lanes.

The cost of running your home ballooning?



See Ætna about a down-to-earth saving.

Fuel oil is up. Food bills are up. Taxes are up. But your Ætna Life & Casualty agent can tell you about some costs that could come down. He can tell you how you might save up to 20% on your homeowners policy. Because if your home qualifies for our new Ætna Preferred Homeowners Policy, that's exactly what can happen.

More good news: the requirements are easy. So long as the house you own is in Missouri, was built in the last twenty-five years, and has a replacement value between $15,000 and $60,000 you've already met the major requirements. Discounts for renters, too.

Why not look up your nearest Ætna agent? You'll find him in the Yellow Pages. Whether you own or rent, chances are he can show you in black and white why we're not your average insurance company.

Let us show you how to stay close to home this summer and still feel a million miles away!

Have fun on your vacation this summer, even with the fuel shortage! All you have to do is get to know me, your local Chrysler Marine Dealer; and then — go boating on the nearest body of water with the whole family.

That way you won't waste any fuel, and you'll still be able to have all the fun you deserve. But remember, that's only if you make it in and let us show you our special money- and fuel- saving tips. Tips that will make the very most out of your special plans.

The "lead" in lead pencils is not lead, but graphite mixed with clay to make it soft and smooth enough to rub off when it is moved across paper. Hard lead has more clay mixed with the graphite than a soft lead. To make "lead", clay, powered graphite and water are mixed into a kind of dough. Put through a machine, a tiny rope of dough emerges, which is straightened out and cut into pieces. The pieces are then baked for several hours in a big oven to drive out the moisture. When removed from the oven, they are hard slender sticks. To complete the pencil, these sticks of lead are encased in wood and usually toped with an eraser. Only certain woods are suitable for lead pencils. The best is red cedar. A pencil made of red cedar is easy to sharpen.

The Waterfine Super Appliance is not a water softner but a water refiner. Although it does soften water, it does much more, too! Thanks to an exclusive "Patented Process of Treating Water", a Waterfine Water Refiner cleans filters and removes odor and taste minerals from your water. More and more people are finding out the advantages of Refined Water every day and more and more people are discovering the difference that a Waterfine Water Refiner makes over an ordinary water conditioner. Want to know more? Call Braswell.

Today in U.S. history

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, March 15, the 74th day of 1974. There are 291 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 44 B.C., Julius Caesar was assassinated.

On this date:

In 1603, the French navigator and explorer, Samuel de Champlain, sailed for the New World.

In 1767, the seventh American president, Andrew Jackson, was born.

In 1820, Maine entered the Union as the 23rd state.

In 1874, France assumed a protectorate over the central Indochina region of Annam, which had been under Chinese control.

In 1916, a U.S. force of 12,000 soldiers under Gen. John J. Pershing was ordered into Mexico to capture the revolutionary Mexican leader Pancho Villa.

Ten years ago, French President Charles de Gaulle began a 10-day visit to Mexico and French territories in the Western Hemisphere.

Five years ago, bloody border fighting was reported between Soviet and Communist Chinese forces.

One year ago, President Nixon recalled Ambassador David Bruce from retirement to head the new American diplomatic establishment in Communist China.

Today's birthdays: Singer Eddy Arnold is 56. Actor George Brent is 70. Bandleader Harry James is 58.

Thought for today: Youth comes but once in a lifetime. — Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, American poet, 1807-1882.

Ark-Mo officials discuss sale of gas subsidiary

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark– Two representatives from the Sikeston, Mo., Light and Water Office joined 16 other interested parties at a meeting called by the Arkansas- Missouri Power Co., to discuss the sale of Associated Natural Gas, a subsidiary of the firm.

The representatives were Dick Inman, director of the light and water office, and Garwood Sharp, member of the Board of Municipal Utilities.

Ark- Mo was ordered to sell the gas subsidiary by the Securities and Exchange Commission when Ark- Mo was absorbed by the Middle South Utilities System.

A total of 17 parties have shown serious interest in buying Associated Natural Gas, including Sikeston and several other Missouri Municipalities interested in buying the distribution system within their communities.

Tuesday's two- hour meeting was held at Ark-Mo's general office in Blytheville and was designed to give the prospective bidders an opportunity to ask technical questions.

"This is not a fire sale," August L. Griesedieck of St. Louis, general counsel for Ark- Mo, told the 31 persons in attendance.

"Neither is it a bankruptcy. Whatever proposal eventually is accepted will be in the best interest of the public, our employees and our stockholders."

Not only must a final proposal be approved by the SEC, Ark- Mo President Frank G. Smith said, "we must be assured that our customers' rights will be protected, as well as the rights of our employees."

Ark- Mo will have to be assured that the new owner will honor the Company's contractual arrangements, Smith said, "to insure that our present 62,000 customers continue to receive quality service."

As for employe protection, Smith said, "their earning potential, their tenure and certain Company fringe benefits, such as retirement plans, vacation schedules and insurance benefits, must be protected."

Smith indicated that, before a proposal is accepted by Ark- Mo, "additional negotiations may have to be held with the bidders to insure employe protection."

For the next four to six weeks, he said, bidders will be invited to inspect the gas property and gas company records.

By the second week in May, Smith said, Ark- Mo will begin accepting serious proposals from bidders.

Those attending Tuesday's meeting represented a cross- section of interests.

Included were several major gas companies from Arkansas, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, Tennessee, Louisiana, Illinois, and Texas; financial consultants; attorneys; and several municipalities.

When Ark- Mo, in the fall of 1973, published an invitation for an "expression of interest" in acquiring the gas property, Smith said, "we received a total of 87 inquiries."

Through correspondence, he said, "requesting that they notify us of the precise nature of their interest, the number of prospective bidders was reduced to the people we met with Tuesday."

New Hamburg cabin entered

BENTON — A cabin located four miles west of New Hamburg and owned by Earnest Wilson of Sikeston was broken into Thursday night and personal property valued at $150 was taken, according to Scott County Sheriff John Dennis.

Entrance was gained by taking a glass out of one of the windows.

The robbery was discovered by Mrs. Rita Duncan of Oran, who reported it to Wilson.

A clock and gun were taken.

Allen fined $28 for shoplifting

CHARLESTON — Fletcher Allen Jr., 30, of Charleston was fined $28 and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail this morning in City Court on a shoplifting charge.

Allen was arrested Thursday afternoon and charged with taking a box of fish from the IGA Foodliner.

John W. Dodgen of Charleston was fined $2 on an improper parking charge.

Youths chosen for Boys State

EAST PRAIRIE — Steve Lingle, Billy Hatton, Tony Blumenberg, Willy Wood and Mike Mikel have been selected as candidates to attend Boys State in Warrensburg June 16 & June 23.

Boys State is a seven-day leadership training program sponsored by the American Legion.

The students were chosen for their outstanding qualities of leadership, character, scholarship, loyalty and service.

Burning trash ignites rubbish

Firemen were called at 1 p.m. Thursday to the McGee service station, 868 W. Malone Ave., when fire in a trash barrel ignited some nearby rubbish and old tires.

The fire was quickly extinguished.

Jesse McGee, 314 Kramer Drive, owner of the station, was arrested by police for illegal open burning.

At 1:55 p.m., firemen were called to the former Anchor Toy building when the fire alarm system malfunctioned while it was being repaired.

There was no fire.

Cunningham bound over

BLOOMFIELD — Phillip Ray Cunningham was bound over to Circuit Court for trial on two counts of burglary and stealing after an attorney representing him waived preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court before Judge Koss W. Blomeyer. He is charged with stealing property belonging to Walton Lee off Puxico.

Raymond Holeweg and Harold Louis Macke, charged with disturbing the peace, were placed on probation for six months under supervision. The two men are to report back to court on Sept. 12.

John D. Grimes, charged with driving while intoxicated, refusing the breathalyzer test and driving while his license is under suspension, was allowed time to enter the Veterans Hospital in Poplar Bluff for treatment. Grimes had been receiving treatment at the state hospital in Farmington but had left the hospital without being released. The case was continued indefinitely, pending outcome of treatment and length of stay in hospital.

Roy Edward Matheney was granted time to obtain counsel on a charge of possession of marijuana. On other charges of unauthorized vehicle plates and improper muffler he was fined $10 on each charge.

Charges of possession of marijuana against Andy Taylor of Bernie and Larry Micheal Irby of Dexter were continued until March 28.

Bill Gene Leathers of Dexter, charged with non-support, appeared in court with receipts of payment toward the support of his three children. The receipts show he has paid $20 per week since charges were filed against him. He is to appear back in court on April 18.

A charge of destroying personal property, against Henry B. Long, was continued until March 28.

Fines imposed for traffic violations were against Raymond H. Lape of Bell City, speeding, $13; Dobbie R. Harrison of Essex, out of state license, $10 and Micheal Earl Lumsden of Dexter, failure to transfer vehicle license, $10.

Firemen make 2 fire runs

CHARLESTON — Two fire calls were answered by the fire department Thursday.

At 11:20 a.m. firemen were called to 202 Washington Avenue to extinguish a grass fire which threatened a storage shed on property owned by Mrs. Walter McCullough.

At 4:30 p.m. the department was called to East Prairie Route One near Big Book Corner. A house being torn down on the Joker Warren property was allowed to burn and firemen stood by to prevent the blaze from spreading.

In 1972 candy manufacturers sold 963 million pounds of candy bars valued at more than $563 million.

LEGAL NOTICES

CITY OF SIKESTON, MO.
Resolution

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of one and one- half inch hotmix asphaltic pavement on six inch soil cement base with concrete curb and gutter on and along Adams Street between Jaycee and Kiwanis Street in the city of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the council of the city of Sikeston, state of Missouri, as follows: section 1: that the council of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the city of Sikeston. section 2: that the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. section 3: that the estimated cost of the improvement is $6.90 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. section 4: that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the state of Missouri and the ordinances of the city of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the city council the general revenue fund of the city of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. section 5: that any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the state of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the industrial commission of Missouri. section 6: that the city clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the city of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 4th day of March, 1974. Approved: John Frank Ferrell, Mayor; Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk.

Texas musician-evangelist to lead revival services

Revival services at Miner Baptist Church, Highway 62 at Route H, will begin Sunday and continue through March 24.

Dr. Carlos Gruber of Nacodgoches, Tex., will be the evangelist. The Rev. Grady L. Etheridge is pastor. The Rev. Dr. Gruber, a concert violinist and vocal soloist, has been a musician-evangelist since 1945, averaging 25 revivals a year.

He was born in Riga, Latvia, and became a Christian when he was 11. With 2,000 other Latvian Baptists, he moved to Brazil, where he was active in jungle mission work. He graduated from college in Sao Paulo, Brazil, where he studied violin and was active as a choir conductor and music leader in Brazilian Baptist churches.

The Rev. Dr. Gruber came to the United States in 1937 and graduated in 1940 from Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, Tex. He was ordained to the ministry the same year.

He served as pastor of the Latvian Baptist Church in New York City for six years and was publisher of a Latvian monthly. In 1948, the Rev. Dr. Gruber became an American citizen and married Vivian Doris Mercer, college professor in Spanish and French.

James Wilson, Miner Baptist music director, will lead singing during the revival.

Times of services Sunday are: Sunday School, 9:30 a.m.; morning worship , 10:30 a.m.; church training, 6 p.m.; and evening worship, 7 p.m. Weekday services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Carlos Gruber

Nursery care will be provided.

Quartet to sing

The Victory Quartet, above, of Granite City, Ill., will be one of the featured groups on a gospel singing program scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Morehouse school gymnasium. Also singing will be the Murphy Family of Poplar Bluff, Melody Masters of Granite City and the Tate Singers of Sikeston.

Revival set next week at Lilbourn

LILBOURN — Revival services will begin Sunday at First Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. and continue through the March 24 morning service.

The evangelist will be the Rev. Earl Tharp of DeSoto who, until recently, was pastor of Red Star Baptist Church at Cape Girardeau.

Music will be under the direction of Neal Helmbacher of Portageville.

The Rev. Mr. Tharp will show slides of his Holy Land tour Sunday at 6:30 p.m., preceding the evening service.

Family Night will be observed Wednesday night. Gifts will be given to the largest family present, oldest couple and youngest parents; Thursday night will be Youth Night, and Saturday will be Children's Night, according to the Rev. Robert Medlock, pastor.

I walked by the field of a certain lazy fellow and saw that it was overgrown with thorns, and covered with weeds; and its walls were broken down. Then, as I looked, I learned this lesson:
"A little extra sleep,
A little more slumber.

Eastside to host weekend youth rally

This weekend the youth at Eastside Church of the Nazarene, Ralph Avenue at Betty Street, will have Dan and Kay Croy of Olathe, Kan., as leaders and speakers in special services.

Beginning at 9:30 Saturday morning will be sessions of Bible study, training, rap sessions, recreation and a time devoted to spiritual growth.

The Croys who will also be present for services at 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday moring, have traveled with both Nazarene Lost and Found groups of singers across the United States in the summer, and last summer they were the leaders of the Lost and Found West group.

Mrs. Croy is the former Kay Hawkins of Sikeston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hawkins, 1503 E. Matthews Ave. The Croys both graduated from Mid-America Nazarene College at Olathe. This summer they will move to Seattle, Wash. where he will become minister of youth and youth music in Aurora Church of the Nazarene.

Teen-agers from three churches of the Southeast Zone met Feb. 27 at Eastside Church of the Nazarene for a Zone Teen Bible Quiz contest. Churches with teams were First Nazarene Church of Sikeston, Eastside and First Nazarene Church of Cape Girardeau.

The top five were chosen to represent the zone and will go to the Kirkwood church for the District Teen Quiz April 6.

First place winner in the zone contest was Alayna Morris of the Sikeston First church; second, Charlotte Mims, Eastside; third, Trudie Stephenson, Eastside and fourth, Julie Guard, Cape Girardeau. Substitute is Anita Clark of Sikeston First.

The top five winners of the District contest will go to the Regional Bible Quiz at Mid-America Nazarene College at Olathe, Kan., May 2 and 3.

Former East Prairie pastor earns promotion

ANDERSON, Ind.— The Rev. J. L. Hatchel, former pastor of First Church of God in East Prairie, Mo., has been promoted to director of fund services of the Board of Church Extension and Home Missions of the Church of God.

The Rev. Mr. Hatchel has been working in the denomination offices in Anderson since he left East Prairie, but now heads the division with five employes under his direction.

The annual report on campaign services of his department for 1973 indicated a record breaking year with 35 separate campaigns conducted during the year, raising a total of $2,274,123.34, most of which went to building funds in local churches.

His home mailing address is 925 E. Post Road, Anderson, Ind. 46012.

West End Baptists complete study course

Members of West End Baptist Church, 1006 Maude St., have recently completed a church study course in Christian leadership. fifty-one adults completed the study, and 38 youth completed a Bible survey study.

A new study started March 13 on the subject: "An Introduction to the Bible". The Rev. William Hobson anticipates an enrollment in this study of about 75 persons. Credits leading to diplomas in Christian development, Christian leadership and program services will be offered as ultimate goals.

The Rev. Mr. Hobson, the newly elected pastor at West End Baptist Church, is an alumnus of the American Baptist Theological Seminary in Nashville, Tenn. a college owned by Southern and National Baptist Conventions

The Rev. Mr. Hobson has published in the church administration guide of the church, "that his ultimate goal is to earn the respect of the entire membership, and minister to the economic survival of Sikeston, by way of a theocentric movement beginning at home (the local church) and spreading into the economy system of the city-county.

"Promotional emphasis should not be left to ignorance, nor the voice of the majority, but through Christian education enhanced by scientific and technological skills in leadership."

Dr. Sells to speak Sunday

Dr. James L. Sells, president of Southwest Baptist College at Bolivar, will be guest speaker for services at 10:40 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday at Trinity Baptist Church, Highway 61 North.

Dr. Sells earned bachelor of science and master of science degrees at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Ill., a doctor of education degree at Columbia University in New York City and has done post-doctoral study at University of California in Los Angeles.

Jean Laffitte, famed buccaneer, was pardoned by President James Madison, for his assistance to Gen. Andrew Jackson in the Battle of New Orleans.

Little Vine church plans homecoming

MATTHEWS -- Little Vine General Baptist Church on Matthews Route One will observe its annual homecoming Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. helping celebrate the church's 87th anniversary will be singing by The New Creation, a choir from Mid-America Teen Challenge Center in Cape Girardeau, and the Tolbert Sisters of Sikeston.

Little Vine was organized in 1887 by Rev. C. N. Darrow with four charter members. Today the church has 130 members and an average Sunday School attendance of 120. From the days of the Rev. Mr. Darrow to the present, Little Vine has built a new auditorium, Sunday School rooms, two parsonages and moved the old church building so that it has become the middle section of the present church.

Since 1911 the church has employed the services of eight pastors: J. E. Evans, 1911-1938; G. A. Griffey, 1939-1950; Archie McKay, 1950-1958; James Graham, 1959-1962; Tommy Caudle, 1962-1966; Joe Powell, 1966-1967; Ellis Grant, 1967-1971; and Robert Cates, the pastor since 1972.

Three years ago Little Vine began setting a day aside each year to celebrate its anniversary. During the first two years the church has experienced large crowds and a close fellowship with some of its long-time members.

"This year we are pleased to have with us The New Creation and the Tolbert Sisters to bring the gospel in song and witness," said the Rev. Mr. Cates, who explained that the mission of The New Creation is to speak "on the level of the people."

This group of young men is made up of former drug addicts, runaways, ex-convicts and criminals who will be sharing how Christ has changed their lives, he added.

The Tolbert Sisters have been favorites in this areas for several years, as well as appearing in many states with a number of the top gospel singing groups, he continued.

The services will begin at 10 a.m. with The New Creation providing the morning program until 11:20. Following the morning sermon, lunch will be served in the dining hall.

Both singing groups, along with local talent, will sing in the afternoon.

Tolberts to sing

The Tolbert Sisters -- Jean, left and Ann Tolbert and Grace Tolbert McCann, right -- a gospel singing trio, will be present Sunday to help Little Vine General Baptist Church celebrate its annual homecoming and 87th anniversary.

Missionary to talk at First Assembly

The Rev. Ernest G. Jones, an Assembly of God missionary to Senegal, West Africa, will speak Sunday in the 5:30 p.m. youth service and the 7 o'clock evening service at First Assembly of God Church, 306 S. Kingshighway, the Rev. T. A. McDonough, pastor, has announced.

During their past term of missionary service, the Rev. Mr. Jones and his wife Marjorie pastored Evangel Temple at Dakar, Senegal's capital city. They fostered a ministry among West African university students and are planning to open a coffeehouse near the Dakar University campus.

Mrs. Jones served as principal of a junior high school with an enrollment of 240 students, which is affiliated with Evangel Temple in the cosmopolitan city of 650,000 people. The Joneses also supervised three weekly radio broadcasts and worked in the Senegal Bible Institute.

A veteran missionary the Rev. Mr. Jones served as field fellowship chairman and superintendent of the national Assemblies of God, which has about 800 members and adherents in Senegal, where the population is 80 per cent Moslem.

He was also director of the International Correspondence Institute for Senegal This Assemblies of God auxiliary is a worldwide literature program for teaching and evangelism.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Jones served for two four-year terms as missionaries in Malawi, East Africa. During that time, Mr. Jones traveled to villages in the central and northern parts of the country opening several Assemblies of God missions.

During this missions rally, Missionary Jones will relate some of his experiences in Africa and will explain plans for further ministry in Senegal

Also, a film, "Greater Is He", which is the story of a Dakar university student who experienced salvation and Pentecost through the outreach ministry of Evangel Temple, will be shown.

Thoughts

From The Living Bible

For though I spend my life searching for wisdom, knowledge, and skill, I must leave all of it to someone who hasn't done a day's work in his life.This is not only foolish, but unfair. So what does a man get for all his hard work? Days full of sorrow and grief, and restless, bitter nights. It is all utterly ridiculous. So I decided that there was nothing better for a man to do than to enjoy his food and drink, and his job. Then I realized that even this pleasure is from the hand of God.

THE BIBLE

126. Israel Loses The Ark and Eli's Death

When the army of Israel was camped near Ebenezer, the Philistines attacked them and slew about 4000 men. Thus the elders of Israel sought to discover why the Lord had permitted their defeat. They decided to bring the Ark of the Covenant from Shiloh to save them, and Eli's sons, Hophni and Phinehas, accompanied the Ark. When the people of Israel saw the Ark coming, their shouts were loud enough to make the ground shake! The Philistines were filled with fright, but they decided to fight as never before—lest they become slaves of Israel, and they defeated Israel again, slaying 30,000 footmen. "And the ark of God was taken; and the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas were slain." (i Samuel 4:11)

One man of the tribe of Benjamin ran from the battle and arrived at Shiloh with his clothes torn and dirt on his head. Eli, now blind and 98 years old, anxiously awaited news of the battle, for he feared for the Ark of the Covenant. The messenger related that Israel had suffered defeat and the Ark had been taken. When Eli heard, "...he fell from off the seat backward by the side of the gate, and his neck brake, and he died: for he was an old man, and heavy: And he had judged Israel 40 years."

(I Samuel 4:18)

Korean Christians take firm stand

By David Poling (NEA

Just last year we witnessed one of the great gatherings in church history when more than one million people swarmed into Seoul, Korea, to hear evangelist Billy Graham. Today a significant number of Korean Christians are putting their faith into action — confronting the dictatorial policies of President Park.

Historically, Christians have known that freedom of religion and freedom of speech belong in the same bag. Pastors and prominent churchmen are facing squarely the repressive policies of Mr. Park. There is now the realization that the suspension of national elections means an attack on the press, on academic freedom, and on the rights of public worship and assembly. Korea in 1974 reads like America 1776. Korean Christians, at great risk, have channeled their deep personal pietism into intense political activism.

Reports received in this country indicate that pastors, college students, seminarians and ecumenical councils are prepared to go to prison rather than endure the Occidental tyranny that now grips Seoul.

Faculty and students at Hankuck Seminary, a Presbyterian theological seminary, and Teagun seminary, a Catholic seminary, have shaved their heads in public protest against government repression. Major complaints are varied but generally follow these lines:

1. Freedom of faith, speech, publishing, assembly.
2. Academic freedom on campus.
3. Ending police surveillance, release of imprisoned students.
4. Practice of free democracy.
5. End to dominance of Japanese investment.

The Korean Council of Churches summarized the aspirations of many Christians when it stated:

"Human rights are the most valuable thing given by God. God, who created man in his own image, released mankind from all kinds of restrictions, and he intends a society in which human rights are not infringed upon.

On the opening, wheat futures were 3 to 9 cents a bushel lower, March 5.30; corn was 2 lower to ½ higher, March 2.94; oats were 1½ lower to ¼ higher, May 1.41¾ and soybeans were unchanged to 6 lower, March 6.30.

Council tentatively accepts bids

EAST PRAIRIE — Bids on a sanitary refuse collection service and a new police car were tentatively accepted Thursday night by the City Council.

Only two bids were submitted for a contract for the refuse service, which went to Bill Jones of East Prairie, the low bidder, who submitted a bid of $2.50 per home per month.

An agreement on the costs for commercial pickup, where the fee will remain flexible, remains to be worked out between Jones and the city. The service will go into effect as soon as the commercial agreement is reached and a contract signed.

The City Council adopted an ordinance setting the collection and transportation regulations for the service and penalties for failure to comply in a Feb. 27 special session.

Collections will be made at homes once a week. Containers must be leakproof, water-proof and fitted with a fly-tight lid; have handles or bails and tapered sides for easy emptying. They are to be not less than 20 gallons nor more than 35 gallons in size and can be either metal, rubber or weatherproof plastic. The containers are not to exceed 75 pounds in weight when filled, and may be placed at the curb or alley at each home for collection.

The penalty for failure to comply can be a fine of not less than $5, nor more than $500.

A bid of $3.25 per home per month was submitted by Gene Cade of East Prairie.

A billing charge of 50 cents per month will be added to the $2.50 rate by the city.

Presson Ford Co. of East Prairie submitted a low bid of $3,285.88 for a 1974 model police car. The bid will be accepted, provided the car meets the required specifications. Other bids submitted were Pope Motors of East Prairie, $3,575, and Winchester Chevrolet of East Prairie, $3,323.

The council voted to reaffirm the crape myrtle as the city's official flower, as requested by the Women's Improvement Club. The flowering shrub will be promoted during the club's annual spring garden sale.

In routine action the council approved expenditures of $7,176.25 for February; the collector's report of $17,756.24 and the police judge's report, which showed a total of $225 in fines collected.

from the jury.

The defense also stated that it had an obligation to present the best possible witnesses in Harrington's behalf and said if it had not been misled by the prosecutor, it would not have used Baker as a witness. "We feel his testimony was damaging to Harrington," the defense motion stated.

The defense said Baker told one story to a deputy sheriff on the morning of the slaying and retracted his story on the witness stand.

The defense also sought to support its position by calling Pros. Atty. Jim Moore and defense attorney James Crenshaw to the witness stand for questioning.

On being asked why he did not supply the defense with a copy of the FBI statement Moore said he did not receive a statement from Kemp until the evening before the trial and only had the statement in his possession approximately 16 hours before he did provide the defense with a copy.

Concerning the statements from Baker, Moore said he was not aware that he had the statements from Baker in his file.

Crenshaw testified that he asked Moore on several occasions for a copy of the FBI statements and Moore told him he had not received any copies

The state called to the witness stand, Jim Robison, the second defense attorney, When asked why he did not take a statement from the FBI agent himself, Robison said he was representing an indigent person who could not finance a trip to Chicago for his counsel to talk to the agent.

Robison also said he was aware of the law that the prosecutor must supply the defense a copy of all statements.

Portageville shooting incident investigated

PORTAGEVILLE — New Madrid County Sheriff'd Department is continuing its investigation of a shooting Wednesday night into the home of Eugene J. Cross on Route Three, two and a half miles north of Portageville.

Cross is employed in the industrial relations department on Noranda Aluminum Inc. in St. Jude Industrial Park where United Steel Workers of America Local 7686 have been on strike since Jan. 31.

A sheriff's deputy today said that nine .22 caliber rifle shots were fired through the windows of the house sometime between 10 p.m. Wednesday and 6 a.m. Thursday.

The shooting failed to awaken the family and no one was injured. Cross discovered the shooting early Thursday morning when he noticed holes in a picture window.

Three bullets which were embedded in one of the floors were recovered by the sheriff's department.

10:30 NBC— "Jigsaw" starring Harry Guardina & Hope Lange

"The American Film Institute Salute to James Cagney"...

JAMES CAGNEY– LONG— TIME ECOLOGIST AND MAN OF THE SOIL

The student body at Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla., was surprised when actor James Cagney, there to receive an honorary degree as Doctor of Humanities, got up to speak. Instead of a dissertation on acting and other aspects of show business, Cagney delivered a well- reasoned address on soil conservation.

Ecology, conservation and recycling of materials are subjects that have interested Cagney for many years. In fact, long before that speech at Rollins, Cagney, in the mid- 1950s, was one of the first of the Hollywood personalities to take an active interest in ecology.

Cagney's interest in the subject is just one of many facets of the legendary film star's life now being recalled in Hollywood as he prepares for his first public appearance in 13 years. The occasion is "The American Film Institute Salute to James Cagney," which will be broadcast as a special entertainment event Monday, March 18 (8:30- 10:00 PM, DST) on the CBS Television Network.

It is generally known that Cagney is an amateur artist of some stature, but it is generally not known that he carries his recycling theories over into his artwork. He paints on shirt- boards, for example, and he believes that there are literally hundreds of homely, everyday items that can be reused and recycled into the environment.

Cagney has been a man of the soil since his very early days in motion pictures. He has a farm at Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts, and a spread in New York State, where he grows vegetables for his family and friends. He also has a reputation as a breeder of prize cattle.

Mary Tyler Moore is narrator of "We the Women," the historical special to be broadcast Sunday, March 17 (7:00- 8:00 PM, DST) on the CBS Television Network as the first in THE AMERICAN PARADE series of 13, hour- long, primetime, American history- oriented programs to be presented on the Network over the next three years in conjunction with the country's 1976 bicentennial. CBS News is producing the series for the Network. "We the Women" looks at the history of women in America through the lives of some of the country's most famous suffragettes.

Julie London likes the idea of going to work and returning each day with her husband, Bobby Troup. And that's the convenience offered them as stars of NBC Television Network's "Emergency!" series, in which Julie portrays nurse Dixie McCall.

Julie's first fame came with her singing debut at a Hollywood nightclub, where she introduced "Cry Me a River," which has since proved to be the most popular version of the song ever recorded.

Shortly after graduation from high school in San Bernardino, Calif., she went to Hollywood and worked as a salesgirl. The late Alan Ladd's wife, talent scout Sue Carol, spotted her and arranged a screen test which brought a contract for six pictures– the first titled "The Red House," with Edward G. Robinson-- and Julie was launched as an actress.

Her singing won her more motion picture roles and after appearances in nightclubs coupled with her recordings, she was offered a role with Jose Ferrer in "The Great Man."

She has appeared in some of the country's top night spots, including the Tropicana in Las Vegas, the Blue Room of the Roosevelt Hotel in New Orleans, the Westside Room at the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles, the Fairmont in San Francisco and New York's Waldorf- Astoria.

Julie and Bobby live in Encino, Calif., with daughter Kelly, 11, and twin sons Jody and Reese, 10.

IRONSIDE (MARCH 21) --Young couple vanishes

When a young couple mysteriously disappears from a "haunted house party," Chief Ironside (Raymond Burr) sets himself up as the next victim in NBC Television Network's "Ironside" colorcast of "House of Terror" Thursday, March 21 (8 -9 p.m. DST; repeat of Oct. 25, 1973).

Jennifer Palmer (Sharon Gless) gets the permission of her uncle to throw an offbeat party for her friends in an abandoned house he owns. A couple bets Jennifer and her date, Dave (Russell Wiggins), $100 that they won't spend an entire night there. They accept. A later check shows they've vanished. Ironside, called into the case, decides to move into the house. Don Weis directed William D. Lansford's teleplay.

'THE DEAN MARTIN COMEDY HOUR' (MARCH 15) --roastee from the past

George Washington, portrayed by actor Jan Leighton, is the "Man of the Week" on the "Dean on "The Dean Martin Comedy Hour." Friday, March 15 (9 -10 p.m. DST, in color), on the NBC Television Network.

Marking a first for the weekly variety series, hosted by Dean Martin, a famous personage out of the past will be roasted. Throwing barbs will be many of Washington's contemporaries, including wife Martha (Audry Meadows); his aide -de -camp at Valley Forge (Steve Lawrence); and his press secretary (Foster Brooks).

Others on the dais are Dick Martin, Corbett Monica, Nipsey Russell, health -food authority Euell Gibbons, Henny Youngman and Jack Carter.

Show highlights include Dean's vocal "For the Good Times"; the country music spot with Lynn Anderson, Doug Kershaw and Conway Twitty; and the "songwriters' medley " by Dean and Mac Davis.
